Mangham marks fallen police officer's birthday

The family of Mangham Police Officer Marshall Lee Waters Jr. met April 10 at entrance of the Mangham Town Hall with town officials to receive posthumous awards for his service and to celebrate the life of their beloved son, brother, uncle, father and grandfather who would have celebrated his 50th birthday this April 13.

Officer Waters was wounded in the line of duty Oct. 17, 2020 while pulling over a suspect who had earlier that day robbed the Yancey Pharmacy in Rayville and was driving a stolen car near the Franklin and Richland Parish border on Hwy 425 just outside Mangham.

The suspect fired a shot at Officer Waters that struck him just below his bullet-proof vest. Officer Waters was airlifted to the Rapides Regional Medical Center in Alexandria where he underwent several surgeries for the wound he received from the bullet that damaged his femoral artery.

After a brave three-week fight, sadly Officer Waters

Rayville family seeking tips about missing relative

A Rayville family is asking the public's help in finding a missing relative. Alex Earl Elder Jr., 51, of Fort Worth, Texas, has been missing since November.

"He came to Rayville to visit his mother, Bobbie Newman, in November," Tilda Berry explained.

During the visit, Berry is suspected to have gotten into an altercation Nov. 25 on Ouachita Street in Rayville.

After being struck during the fight, he is thought

Alex Earl Elder Jr.

Rayville, said Elder has not contacted her or his mother since his disappearance. Elder's father, Alex Earl Elder Sr., who also lives in Texas, said his son has not contacted him either.

"We're worried and we're asking anyone who has seen or heard from him to contact us," Berry said.

Elder's mother can be contacted at 318-417-4782 in Rayville and his father at 817-726-7740 in Texas.

Job fair slated in Delhi

The Workforce Development Board will host a career fair from 9 a.m. to noon April 21 at the Delhi Civic Center.

The board is seeking employers and businesses that are currently looking to fill positions with individuals of relevant work experience.

In addition to the Delhi career fair, other fairs will be held from 9 a.m. to noon April 27 at the Louisiana Delta Community College Winnsboro campus and April 29 at the Bastrop Municipal Center.

"Our goal is to provide a career fair to help the community by providing connection to employers who are hiring with job seekers and our young adults who are selected to participate in a short summer employment program," Richland Parish Workforce Center manager Colleen Dorsey said.

Interested participants can register for one or all of the events by visiting www.wdb83.com and selecting the April Job Fair registration button.

The Workforce Development Board is also promoting a new program for businesses to host an eligible youth participant (18-24 years old) for an eight-week summer program that could possibly fill an open position through Work Experience.

Workforce pays the full salary for eight weeks, then through on the job training, your company is reimbursed 50 percent of the training dollars up to $7,000.

"This basically makes an internship program completely free with a significant cost share to train the interns," Richland Parish Chamber of Commerce Chairman Scott Franklin said.

Please contact Dorsey at cdorsey@bayou.com for any questions about the career fair.

State halts use of J&J vaccine

The Louisiana Department of Health is placing a temporary pause on all administration of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine while federal health agencies investigate whether six reported cases of blood clotting were caused by the vaccine.

Providers in the state of Louisiana will continue to use the Pfizer and Moderna vaccines and all Louisianians are encouraged to take advantage of the available vaccines, so the state can continue to slow the spread of COVID-19 and put the pandemic in its rearview.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the U.S. Food and Drug Administration have recommended that the United States pause the use of Johnson & Johnson's COVID-19 vaccine out of an abundance of caution over six reported U.S. cases of a "rare and severe" type of blood clot.

"Today's pause in the Johnson & Johnson vaccine is out of an abundance of caution. This morning, I had a call with White House officials and other governors to discuss this issue as we work to safely get as many Louisianians 16 and older vaccinated as quickly and safely as possible. While I understand that this news may be concerning, I remain committed to working alongside public health experts to make sure people can get the answers they need to make an informed decision," Gov. John Bel Edwards said.

"Right now, there are two safe and effective vaccines — Pfizer and Moderna — available and being administered in Louisiana and I encourage everyone in Louisiana to keep their appointments and to take advantage of the vaccines we have available. Nearly 1 million Louisianians have already completed their vaccinations against COVID-19. There have been around 85,000 Johnson and Johnson doses administered in Louisiana and no reported cases of this rare blood clot that we are aware of," Gov. Edwards said. "In the short term, this means some community vaccination events may have to be rescheduled or shifted to use Pfizer and Moderna vaccines for now and working with the team from the Louisiana Department of Health and health care officials, we will continue the important work of administering vaccines."

"While this news is frustrating and concerning, we appreciate the FDA acting with abundant caution and transparency," said Dr. Joseph Kanter, Louisiana's State Health Officer. "We do not yet know whether these reported cases of blood clotting were caused by the vaccine. The State of Louisiana takes vaccine safety very seriously, and this temporary pause should give the public and providers confidence the system of monitoring and safety checks are working as intended."

As of April 12, more than 6.8 million doses of the Johnson & Johnson vaccine have been administered in the U.S. CDC and FDA are reviewing data involving six reported U.S. cases of a rare and severe type of blood clot in individuals after receiving the J&J vaccine. All six cases occurred among women between the ages of 18 and 48, and symptoms occurred 6 to 13 days after vaccination.

CDC will convene a meeting of the Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices (ACIP) on Wednesday to further review these cases and assess their potential significance.

LINDA FAYE LIPE

Funeral services for Linda Faye Lipe, 79, of Delhi, were held Tuesday, April 13, in the Delhi Presbyterian Church with Rev. Brister Ware and Rev. Chris Wright officiating.

Visitation was held Monday at Cox Funeral Home in Delhi.

Pallbearers were Bruce McEacharn, Mike Martin, Steve Britton, Walter Huffman, Jon Paul Lipe and Trey Moss.

Honorary pallbearers were the officers of Delhi Presbyterian Church, Sonny Hosea and Dr. Kenneth McDonald.

Linda Lipe was born on Feb. 4, 1942 in Mooresville, N.C., and died peacefully in her sleep at her home on Saturday, April 10, 2021.

Preceding her in death were her parents Mr. W.E. Hastings and Mrs. Jessie Hastings.

She is survived by her husband, Rev. Paul Lipe; her children, Mary Linda Moss, MD, radiologist at North Mississippi Health System in Tupelo where she directs women's imaging, and Jonathan Lipe, owner of Preston Road Pharmacy in Dallas, Texas, who is married to Mary Linda Allen from Oak Ridge; her grandchildren, Trey Moss, who works with National Land Realty in Louisiana and Mis-issippi, Mary Hastings Moss, graduate student at Ole Miss, Sarah Lipe, pre-pharmacy junior at Texas A&M, Anna Kathryn Lipe, sophomore accounting student at LSU, Jon Paul Lipe, senior at Trinity Christian Academy in Dallas who is pre-enrolled at LSU, and Lilly Lipe, a fourth grader at Providence Christian School of Texas in Dallas; and a brother, Tony who resides in Rock Hill, S.C.

She was a student at Queens College in Charlotte, N.C., but left school to marry her lifetime love, Paul Lipe, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Delhi. She supported and assisted her husband for over 50 years of ministry, serving the church and the Lord in numerous capacities, following their motto, "by His grace; for His glory."

For years, she was the Sunday School teacher for fifth and sixth graders and under her instruction and influence, most of these professed faith and joined the church. In addition, she participated in the choir as a soloist, director and accompanist. She also sang in the ladies' quartet and was very active in women's work. She initiated a widows' luncheon to honor the widows in church and helped with youth work, including the youth choir, accompanying them on summer tours across the southeastern states. Mrs. Lipe hosted Sunday evening youth after-meetings for teens who delighted in the fellowship and enjoyed her cooking. She prepared refreshments for youth attending the church's summer basketball camps and was a favorite of her husband's ministerial interns who often ate at her table.

Young women who were soon to be married benefited from her wise counsel.

One of the most significant contributions to the life of the church was her long tenure as organist, a role that contributed greatly to the worship of the members of the congregation. Besides these many contributions to the Kingdom, she also served as secretary to her pastor-husband. Now Mrs. Lipe is resting from her earthly labors and is serving her Lord in His heavenly Kingdom.

The interment of Mrs. Lipe was held at the Faith Memorial Park Cemetery in Delhi under the direction of Cox Funeral Home of Delhi.

PATRICIA LOU MASSEY STOKES

Patricia Lou Massey Stokes, loving known as "Patsy," left her earthly home March 23, 2021 in Houston, TX, following a courageous battle with cancer.

Patsy was met at heavens gates by her parents, E.S. "Pete" and Jimmie Lou Massey along with her fur baby of many years, JoJo.

Patsy was born August 28, 1956 in Rayville and is survived by one child, Bonnie Graham Sapp, and husband, Michael, who she affectionately referred to as "her son"; her three grandchildren, Eden, Eliza and Graham who was lovingly called "moon pie" by his "mee maw"; her siblings, one brother, David E. Massey and wife, Debbie, and sisters, Sherry Hough and husband, Alvin "Shorty", Annette Vondenstein and husband, Wayne, Angie Hewitt and husband, A.C., and Leslie Michele Chason and husband, Dan.

She also had numerous nieces and nephews, all left to cherish the precious time we had here with her. Patsy was preceded in death by her parents and grandparents.

Patsy worked most of her life. At the time of death, she was employed by Affinity Healthcare in Monroe. When she wasn't working, most of her time was spent surrounded by her beloved daughter, son-in-law and those three precious grandchildren who filled her life with joy. She enjoyed working in her yard and planting flowers for spring, but her time after work was reserved for playing with her grandchildren at her house. She will be remembered for her "tell it like it is" attitude and dry humor that she didn't realize she had. Our family will miss the regular phone calls and her love and presence at family gatherings. Above all else, she was a true friend who always had time to listen.

Patsy became a Christian and asked Jesus into her heart as a young woman. She was a charter member of Mount Calvary Baptist Church where she remained until her death. It is with this faith and assurance that her family find the peace and comfort needed at this time knowing she is in heaven.

We would like to thank everyone who has reached out to us through calls, texts, cards, etc. We are forever grateful to everyone for your concern, words of encouragement and especially the prayers. Also, to the nurses, doctors and staff at MD Anderson and Trinity Hospice in Houston, TX, words will never be enough to express our feelings of love for all of you.

Visitation for friends was Friday, March 26, 2021 at Brown-Holley Funeral Chapel, Rayville.

Funeral services for Patricia Lou Massey Stokes were held Friday, March 26, 2021 at Brown-Holley Funeral Chapel, Rayville, with Bro. Richard Robinson officiating. Interment followed in the Bethel Cemetery, Holly Ridge.

Patsy's nephews served as her pallbearers.

Legislative auditor retires -- parting words a concern

Darryl Purpera, CPA, CFE and the former Louisiana Legislative Auditor (LLA) from 2010 to March 2021, was recently interviewed by the State Society of Louisiana CPA's with an article titled "Better Information, Better Louisiana". State taxpayers should read this article closely, especially considering the $405 million (LLA says "number is probably much higher") of Unemployment Benefits the state sent to 100,000 ineligible people-- and Legislative Leaders have called for fiscal reform to the $36 billion state budget that the Edwards Administration has proposed to increase again by $18 million.

the state budget--meaning fraud could be $1.6 billion every year. Determined to fix this staggering problem, not only for Louisiana but also other states, Mr. Purpera "made major changes that have resulted in savings, and other state auditors also made changes in their states—but several of these positive changes were later reversed", and in Mr. Purpera's opinion, "this was just not good government."

Mr. Purpera, who has an accomplished career that includes chairing legislative committees, crafting legislation, testifying in both the U.S. House and Senate on Medicaid Fraud -- and who will now become Pastor for the First Baptist Church of Central in Baton Rouge, made these parting comments that should cause concern for all taxpayers:

* "Medicaid was my greatest personal and professional challenge, as it had grown to 35 percent of the state budget in 2015 and would eventually crowd out other valuable services (and is at 45 percent today)—and a huge issue was the level of error and fraud which the GAO had estimated to run about 10 percent." Today, Medicaid is now $16 billion of

* "Once COVID hit, any previous appetite for reducing the improper payment rate seems to have disappeared in favor of paying out fast and furious even if that means reducing controls and increasing the rate of improperly paid taxpayer monies."

* "My most memorable and rewarding experience when I and several colleagues uncovered and investigated the biggest fraud case I have ever known of in the Louisiana government (over $15 million) involving the purchase of voting machine parts and resulted in the indictments of 21 individuals including the elected Secretary of the Department of Elections."

Louisiana, and the Federal Government, are spending money today that is "just not good government."

Covid passports threat to liberty

Just because it is not a government mandate, it still is a violation of liberty. It is corporatism. It is fascism. It is totalitarianism. And Americans of every political stripe must reject it in the strongest possible terms.

Robert Romano

The Biden administration is touting private sector so-called "Covid passports" as an enforcement mechanism to encourage the American people to get vaccinated against the Chinese coronavirus.

Want to go shopping? Get on an airplane? Go traveling across state lines? Sit at a restaurant? You might need to bring your receipt that you had your Covid vaccination, or worse, have it uploaded to a corporate-run database.

It's not a federal mandate per se. And with good reason. When it comes to mandatory vaccinations, to the extent they've ever been allowed, those have always been at the state level, for example with the small pox vaccine a century ago.

When it comes to a federal mandate, as reported by the Congressional Research Service's Wen Shen in 2019, "Pursuant to the principles of federalism, the Supreme Court has interpreted the Tenth Amendment to prevent the federal government from commandeering or requiring state officers to carry out federal directives. In the context of vaccination, this principle prevents Congress from requiring states or localities to pass mandatory vaccination laws..."

And so, it's been left to the state. In 1905, in Jacobson v. Massachusetts, the Supreme Court ruled in favor of a state-imposed mandatory vaccination: "the legislature of Massachusetts required the inhabitants of a city or town to be vaccinated only when, in the opinion of the board of health, that was necessary for the public health or the public safety. The authority to determine for all what ought to be done in such an emergency must have been lodged somewhere or in some body; and surely it was appropriate for the legislature to refer that question, in the first instance, to a board of health composed of persons residing in the locality affected, and appointed, presumably, because of their fitness to determine such questions. To invest such a body with authority over such matters was not an unusual, nor an unreasonable or arbitrary, requirement... We are not prepared to hold that a minority, residing or remaining in any city or town where smallpox is prevalent, and enjoying the general protection afforded by an organized local government, may thus defy the will of its constituent authorities, acting in good faith for all, under the legislative sanction of the state."

So, in order to get around that, anticipating that some but not all states may go ahead and pass mandatory vaccines, the Biden administration is turning America's corporations to institute what will amount to national mandate. But that sounds too tyrannical, so let's call it "passports."

Now, I happen to believe Jacobson was wrongly decided, that even state-imposed vaccination mandates appear to violate the protection of individual liberty under both the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments, but that is the currently existing caselaw.

The real issue here is that a mandate is generally unnecessary. Already, without any mandate whatsoever, 97 million Americans have already had one dose, and 54.6 million have had two doses of the Covid vaccine, according to the Centers for Disease Control. That's nearly one-third of the population. Millions more are waiting in line, because demand is so high for the vaccine, state and private health care providers cannot administer them fast enough.

Moreover, public health officials such as Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, has variously estimated that it would take anywhere from 70 percent, to later he said 85 percent, of Americans in order to receive the Covid vaccine to achieve herd immunity.

Fauci said he arbitrarily "nudged it up a bit" from 70 percent to 85 percent when "newer surveys said

Biden should overturn decision, protect jobs

President Joe Biden has the power to overturn the recent U.S. International Trade Commission (USITC) decision in a trade dispute involving the importation and sale of certain lithium-ion batteries, battery cells, battery modules, and battery packs, which would do significant damage to United States interests in growing a domestic battery manufacturing capacity — and he should exercise it in order to protect American jobs that are now at stake.

Rick Manning

SK Innovation, a South Korean company, is building a vehicle battery manufacturing plant in the state of Georgia which would employ 2,600 Georgians by the beginning of 2024 as they manufacture specially designed electric batteries for the new Ford EV F-150 truck and the Volkswagen's Chattanooga, Tennessee electric vehicle manufacturing plant.

SK Innovation will also manufacture a large percentage of batteries available on the open market, manufacturing capacity that is sorely needed today. When fully complete, SK Innovation's Georgia battery plant is expected to produce as many as 330,000 batteries each year that can be used for electric vehicles and residential stationary storage (ESS).

Unfortunately, the USITC's decision effectively destroys this promise, creating inevitable delays in the ability to meet President Biden's stated goals for domestic EV production.

While the decision purports to allow for a limited transition period for SK Innovation to meet the needs of its clients, the ITC has otherwise banned SK from importing critical components for its batteries for 10 years. It is absurd on its face to assume that any company would continue building and staffing for a massive U.S. manufacturing facility when it will be so drastically limited in its operations, and will effectively be closed before it can even be brought to full capacity.

What's more, given the unique nature of the SK Innovation batteries, which are designed specifically for each automaker, it is not feasible to transfer production to another domestic or foreign battery manufacturer and still meet the automakers' production schedule.

On both the national security and international trade levels, it is critical that domestic auto manufacturers have the ability to source their batteries in the U.S. In the case of foreign based manufacturers like Volkswagen, the U.S.-Mexico-Canada (USMCA) trade agreement requires a Regional Value Content of 75 percent, which becomes extremely difficult if not impossible to meet should Biden allow this mistaken decision to stand.

I don't agree with the Biden administration's underlying rationale behind the push for electric vehicles. However, the business decision made by Ford and Volkswagen to continue their aggressive expansion into this market should not be delayed for years due to what effectively amounts to a trade dispute between two South Korean competitors. Additionally, experts have pointed out that limiting production of these batteries here in the US will create an even greater opportunity for the Chinese to continue dominating electric battery production and leave the US behind.

Another concern is that LG, the complainant in the USITC suit, through one of its units in South Korea (LG Uplus) uses Huawei as a vendor for its 5G network technology. This has raised major concerns as the US has worked to encourage nations across the world to join the clean network initiative and not use Huawei technology in 5G infrastructure. South Korea has not joined that effort and as a result LG is the only mobile carrier in South Korea to use Huawei.

Given the recent experience in Anchorage, where the Chinese government demonstrated public contempt for America and our representatives, it would be significant for the administration to put new weight into the Clean Network Initiative as a whole. Striking down the USITC decision in this case would send a powerful, proportional message in that regard.

President Biden has a unique opportunity to stand up for American manufacturing and the jobs it will create, while demonstrating strong leadership in our nation's relationship to China. To make the most of it, Biden should reject this USITC decision.

60 percent or more would take [the vaccine]” compared to earlier surveys that said only half of Americans would take it. That, for a vaccine he has said in July 2020 he is “cautiously optimistic” we might get “some degree of efficacy” from.

Moreover, the CDC says it does not even know how long the vaccine will work for. “We don’t know how long protection lasts for those who are vaccinated.”

But leaving aside uncertainty about the vaccine’s efficacy, that’s still not 100 percent. Every year, we live with the flu with far less than 100 percent of Americans getting a flu shot, because in order to keep influenza at bay, we don’t need 100 percent coverage. It’s simply not necessary.

So, corporate Covid passports—to go shopping, to travel, to sit at a restaurant, etc.—are probably unnecessary from the private sector, too. But even worse, they are a mortal danger to individual liberty.

That is because corporate mandates can be even worse than government issued mandates, because corporations are not constrained by the Constitution and do not have to respect individual rights. They do have to respect civil rights, for example, they cannot discriminate based on race, religion or sex, but that is limited.

What is happening here—a corporate-run database of who got the vaccine—is the ultimate social credit score ala China. It is invited corporate or corporatist rule over our lives, with a passive government taking a backseat.

These mandates will not end with vaccines. Access to services can be denied based on ideological or other grounds for the “free” choices that you make about who to associate with, or who you choose to support in elections, or which laws you choose to support, and which ones you oppose.

Just look at Big Tech’s iron grip on social media, where it can ban a sitting President from their platforms, or anyone else—or knock Parler off of Apple and Google-based smart phones.

This is the construction of a national blacklist that would make Italy’s Blackshirts, Germany’s SS, Russia’s KGB or East Germany’s Stasi blush. It is dangerous. Because of the new technologies involved, the Covid “passport” system Biden envisions could be even worse if it is abused.

To the heart of the matter, corporations, if they choose, can use technology to block individuals from taking advantage and participating in the institutions of the civil society if you don’t heed their regulations.

And just because those are not government-issued mandates, it still is a violation of liberty. It is corporatism.

It is fascism. It is totalitarianism. And Americans of every political stripe must reject it in the strongest possible terms.

A prototype of a feral hog bait delivery system designed by LSU AgCenter scientists. The system can deliver up to 20 baits and can be activated remotely when pigs are present and actively feeding around the system.

Feral pig baits show promise

Feral pigs are a nuisance in many areas of the country, causing billions of dollars in damage. Scientists with the LSU AgCenter and the LSU Department of Chemistry are working on a bait and delivery system to help reduce the population of feral hogs.

Glen Gentry, LSU AgCenter feral hog specialist, and John Pojman, a chemistry professor, have been working for more than two years on perfecting a bait and delivery system that minimizes the risk to off-target animals.

The researchers had to look at several factors when developing the bait. One involved choosing a formula that was more attractive to hogs based on features such as smell and texture than other animals such as deer or raccoons.

"It took us two years to determine what we were going to use in our matrix," Gentry said. "We landed on dehydrated fish. But that's not before we went through things such as maple syrup or marshmallows."

The researchers knew that sodium nitrite, a common food additive in products such as bacon is lethal to pigs at fairly low levels. The problem with sodium nitrite is it breaks down when it comes into contact with moisture, giving off a chlorine-like odor that pigs find unappealing.

At first, encapsulating the sodium nitrite, similar to a gel cap, was looked at. But Pojman and his doctoral students came up with a simpler solution.

"All we had to do was raise the pH," Pojman said. "Using some basic general chemistry and putting some additives to keep the pH high enough, we can make it so it is stable."

Pojman's doctoral students, Anthony Mai and Anowar Khan, helped develop the bait, which is round and a soft texture. When dropped from a height of approximately 4 feet, it will bounce nearly a foot.

Because it is soft, the pigs can swallow it whole, leaving no crumbs for any scavengers that might come along.

Because of the unique metabolism of feral hogs, the sodium nitrite is more effective on the hogs and poses a low risk to humans.

"If the hogs eat a sub-lethal dose, and a hunter were to kill it and eat it," Pojman said, "there's no danger to them. And also, if a hog does die somewhere and predators or scavengers find it, they would not be contaminated with it."

Even with these measures, Gentry doesn't expect feral pigs to disappear from the landscape.

"People are concerned when some kind of new control method that's going to come on, the pigs are going to disappear," Gentry said. "We've been poisoning rats for 50 to 60 years. We still have rats."

Another part of the solution involves delivering the baits when hogs are actively feeding. Gentry has a prototype that can deliver up to 20 baits when it is activated.

The system has a live feed camera installed, and a person can monitor from their home or their phone.

If the camera sends an alert and shows pigs are present and feeding, baits can be released remotely. This feature would also help eliminate other species from being fed the baits.

Gentry said that the Bob R. Jones-Idlewild Research Station does have three different types of traps available to be rented by the general public for traditional trapping methods.

The traps are the Yeager Pro Trap, the Boar Buster and a wireless trapping system.

The availability and reliability of cellular service will determine what trapping system will be the best fit.

The traps rent for $150 a month and come with all the necessary components, including the batteries needed to operate them.

To transport the traps, a 16-foot trailer is recommended. It takes two people approximately one hour to assemble the traps.

To rent the traps, contact Ariel Bourgoyne at abourgoyne@agcenter.lsu.edu or 225-683-5848.

Hunters for the Hungry supports local food bank

Louisiana sportsmen can help the needy in their community by donating to Hunters For The Hungry Louisiana upon purchasing a Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries license.

As more residents are renewing or purchasing new fishing licenses this spring, Hunters For the Hungry Louisiana is kindly reminding hunters and fishermen to help feed the hungry in their region by donating at checkout. Donations are used to pay processing fees of donated deer in your community. Any donation is welcome and more than appreciated. This can be accomplished on the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries website or by making a request at a local license provider.

Louisiana is in the midst of a hunger crisis and H4H has programs in place that provide protein to the needy, which is the most expensive part of every meal.

Hunters for the Hungry had another amazing year thanks to the generosity of Louisiana's sportsmen. There were over 800 deer that were donated to the partner processors through the "Freshly Harvested Deer Program." Between this and the annual "Clean Out Your Freezer Day," H4H provided more than 55,000 pounds of protein, resulting in over 220,000 meals on the tables of the needy throughout the state of Louisiana.

To increase the coverage of processing fees, and ultimately provide more meals next year, H4H encourages sportsmen to share and show their community they care by following these steps:

- Purchase a fishing license from Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries at <https://www.h4hla.org/buy-license> or ask a local license provider.
- Donate any amount to Hunters For the Hungry Louisiana at checkout.
- Visit www.h4hla.org/donate to make a monetary donation directly to the organization.

"Considering all of the uncertainty that COVID and several damaging hurricanes handed to our state, we were blown away by the donations of protein made in the name of our organization. We expect the deer donations to increase next year, and this is why we greatly need help with processing costs. With the amount of licenses that are purchased annually in Louisiana, even a $1 donation per purchase could make a tremendous impact to the amount of protein that we are able to provide to so many statewide," says Julie Grunewald, executive director of Hunters For The Hungry Louisiana.

To learn more about the mission and programs under Hunters For The Hungry Louisiana or to become involved with the organization, visit www.h4hla.org or contact Executive Director Julie Grunewald at julie@h4hla.org.

April is good time to spring into the garden

By Heather Kirk-Ballard
AgCenter Horticulturist

Garden centers are full of color right now. Plants of all kinds — from annual and perennial bedding plants to flowering shrubs and flowering trees — are available to add to your landscapes.

But before you make your color selections, there are some spring gardening tasks you should take care of first so you can start with a clean slate.

First, pull out all of those winter weeds and remove any unsightly cold-damaged plants. Undoubtedly, when you remove those plants, you will remove a great deal of soil with them. You will need to replenish the soil or raised-bed mix to bring your beds back up.

Additionally, the plants you grew last year have no doubt used up the nutrients that were available, and those nutrients need to be replenished. Top off your beds with a mixture of raised-bed media and compost. This will add organic matter and nutrients back into the beds, bring them back to the appropriate levels (8 to 12 inches) and prepare the bed for your next plant selections.

This provides a great opportunity to incorporate some organic matter back into your beds with compost. You can use homemade compost made from kitchen scraps such as vegetable peelings, eggs and coffee grounds combined with leaves, or you can purchase manure composts containing an assortment of manures from cows, sheep, horses and chickens.

In addition to home-grown compost or composted manures, another option is worm castings — also known as vermicast or, affectionately, worm poop. In addition, mushroom compost is available. We depend on these little fungi for decomposition, and in return, they provide organic matter and make nutrients available to plants. Many of these options are readily available at garden centers.

Next is the fun part: selecting plants. Choose the right plant for the right place. Be aware of the amount of sunlight the area gets and be sure the area gets adequate water with good soil drainage.

When choosing plants, consider selections in the LSU AgCenter Louisiana Super Plants program. This year's warm-season bedding plant selections are the Beacon impatiens series and the Suncredible Yellow sunflower. Both were top performers in field trials at the Hammond Research Station.

Beacon impatiens do best in shaded areas. There's no need to be envious of your neighbors with all that sun and color. You can have color in the shade too with impatiens. Other Super Plant selections for shade are BabyWing begonias, compact varieties from the SunPatience series and the Kauai torenia series.

If you've got an area that is blazing with full sun all day, the Suncredible yellow sunflower is just the plant for you. This is an ever-blooming sunflower that is best suited toward the back of the bed because it gets some height. They make great cut flowers, and the pollinators just love them. If you enjoy yellow sunflowers, this one will not disappoint.

2020 marked the 10th anniversary of Louisiana Super Plants. This program is an educational and marketing campaign that highlights tough and beautiful plants that perform well throughout the state of Louisiana. Each spring and fall, AgCenter horticulturists announce new Super Plants selections.

Super Plants have a proven track record with many years of reliable performance in Louisiana landscapes or have gone through several years of university evaluations and observations. Look for these plants at local nurseries.

You can find a complete list of Super Plants selections along with information about each plant on the LSU AgCenter website at www.lsuagcenter.com/superplants. Below are all of the warm-season bedding plant selections grouped by growth habit and area.

Beef and Forage Field Day videos available to view

Videos are now available for the LSU AgCenter virtual 2021 Beef and Forage Field Day from the Dean Lee Research and Extension Center.

Mike Salassi, LSU AgCenter program leader for plant and animal sciences, said the virtual format was necessary because of the ongoing pandemic.

The presentations can be viewed at: <https://bit.ly/2Q02WAF>.

Field day presentations include talks from LSU AgCenter experts:

- Ron Strahan, forage and turfgrass specialist, covers volunteer ryegrass control in pastures, discussing how ryegrass is becoming resistant to glyphosate and other chemicals, but Rezilon herbicide is effective.

Ed Twidwell and Wink Allison, extension forage specialists, discuss the benefits of using clover in pastures. Twidwell covers methods to avoid bloating problems in cattle that feed on clover, and Allison talks about preparing a seedbed for planting in the fall.

Guillermo Scaglia, beef cattle nutritionist, discusses the topic of calf preconditioning with management practices started at the time of weaning. He explains how preconditioning will reduce problems with bovine respiratory disorder that costs the cattle industry $3 billion annually.

Ashley Edwards, livestock coordinator in the LSU AgCenter Central, Northeast and Northwest regions, covers considerations for breeding replacement heifers. She says more productivity can be realized with heifers that have their first calves at 3 years of age and recommends starting the breeding season for heifers 30 days before mature cows.

Vince Deshotel, livestock coordinator for the LSU AgCenter Central Region, discusses soil fertility basics. He says testing should be conducted to determine levels of nitrogen, potassium and phosphorous, in addition to pH and soil texture. He also reviews visual cues that can indicate nutrient deficiencies in a plant.

Videos from the 2021 Acadiana Beef Cattle Producers Field Day remain online at: <https://bit.ly/3mF5Oie>.

Topics covered include mineral nutrition, market outlook, herd biosecurity and preparing for disasters.

Tara Smith, director of the LSU AgCenter Central Region, said she is optimistic that in-person events will be possible later this year.

Vaccine

FDA will review that analysis as it also investigates these cases. Until that process is complete, LDH is temporarily pausing in the use of this vaccine out of an abundance of caution.

Right now, these adverse events appear to be extremely rare. People who have received the J&J vaccine who develop severe headache, abdominal pain, leg pain, chest pain or shortness of breath within three weeks after vaccination should contact their health care provider.

Minor side effects are a normal sign the body is building protection. Side effects may include pain and swelling in the arm, fever, chills, tiredness or a headache. Most side effects will go away in a few days or less.

Vaccine availability of Pfizer and Moderna will continue uninterrupted.
