City's plea in annexation suit denied

By Samuel Sutton Standard-Radio Post reporter

Rulings were recently issued in favor of the E. 290 Owners' Coalition, an unincorporated, nonprofit association, in its lawsuit filed against the City of Fredericksburg in the 216th Judicial District.

On June 2, the court ruled to deny the city's plea to the jurisdiction.

Since April 2019, the group is opposing the city's efforts to annex 213.64 acres of land along U.S. 290 East.

There are no operational issues in either the Water/ Wastewater or Sanitation Divisions at this time.

These employees did not have any direct contact with the public in performing their job duties over the past several weeks, city officials said.

City facilities

Due to the increase in positive COVID-19 tests in the community, the City of Fredericksburg is taking additional steps to protect employees and the public.

Public access to City Hall, the Fire Station and the City Annex will be limited until further notice.

While utility customers will not be able to access City Hall to pay their bill, customers can pay online or utilize the drop box outside City Hall or the drop box in the Broadway Bank drive through location.

Customers needing to speak with city departments should contact City Hall at 830-997-7521 to make an appointment or attempt to solve any issues over the phone or by email.

For updates, check the city website at www.fbgtx.org.

As cases spike across the state of Texas, Gillespie County has seen its total number of cases more than triple over the last three weeks.

In early June, the county just had six cases, but as of Tuesday, the Texas Department of State Health Services (DSHS) reported 42 cases.

Rise above rancor and work to heal aise your hand if you are tired of COVID-19! Yes, Levery hand both here and around the globe is raised. But sadly, it appears COVID-19 is far from tired of us.

Texas is experiencing rapid, wide spread of the virus. And, the Gillespie County case count is uncomfortably increasing.

We can debate the methods and metrics for rising case counts. We can dispute recovery rates and ratios of fatalities. We can judge others for under or over reacting. And yes, we can argue incessantly. But I hope that we can rise above those contentious discussions to talk about ideas I am confident we all share.

I am honored to serve as both the president & CEO of Fredericksburg's 900-plus member Chamber of Commerce and the chair of Hill Country Memorial's Board of Trustees. I will admit to feeling a constant tension in those roles since the very beginning of COVID-19, knowing that what it may take to choke out the virus could be the very thing that also strangles our economy.

When we were allowed to reopen businesses, I was overwhelmed with joy, after weeks of witnessing the gut-wrenching struggles faced by business owners and their employees. But that joy was tempered by a measure of dread that we might find ourselves back at square one if we, as humans do, become lax at staying

As our business community began the fragile process of reopening, the Chamber, along with our partners at the Convention & Visitor Bureau, introduced The Better Burg Promise — a pact to observe safe practices to protect both the physical and economic well-being of our community.

Lone Wolf Fibers uses unique offerings, closeness to source as assets

By Julia Maenius

Standard-Radio Post reporter

For nearly 10 years, Sarah Schroeder, with the help of husband Gary, has produced fibers from different breeds of sheep to create yarn and kick-started their company and yarn store, Lone Wolf Fibers.

"I began knitting 10 or 12 years ago when we lived in Washington," Schroeder said. "Gary saw all of the yarn I was buying and said we have acreage, why don't we just get you some fiber animals."

Beginning her business with alpacas, Schroeder expanded her Schroeder said. "After it comes business by incorporating breeds of back, I dye it. Some of it is kept sheep with the same length of fiber to blend into yarn.

Making the move

Schroeder first visited Fredericksburg in 2005 with friends to take a rug-hooking class. She suggested her mother-in-law move to town to get back to her German roots, and to get away from the traffic and rain in the Seattle

Schroeder followed suit and moved her family and livestock with her from the north for a change of climate.

"I was so nervous about that," Schroeder said. "The first year, I bought fans for the barns, but they would never go in there. They just laid out under trees. All they really need is shade and water."

The transition of her business from Washington to Texas posed its challenges.

"It was more difficult to find a shearer in Texas, which surprised me, but I finally found the resources for that," Schroeder said.

Schroeder's fibers and yarn can be bought at their home store by appointment, on Etsy at www.etsy.com/shop/lonewolffibers and at Lauren Bade.

"I have someone shear and then I send it off to a mill in the U.S.," natural and some is dyed.'

Lone Wolf Fibers is unique as Schroeder provides fibers and yarn from three breeds of sheep not native to Texas.

"The Blue Faced Leicester is a long-wool sheep, and they are known for next year's skin wear, so it is very soft, "Schroeder said. "I usually have it blended with some other fibers, too. The Gotland sheep are also a long wool sheep, but they are not as soft and more for outerwear. The Cornwall is a fine-wool sheep, and they are shorter staple. People probably like it better because their wool is a little softer and not so itchy.

In addition to the sheep fibers, Schroeder also sells the fibers from German Angora rabbits and lambs.

"I've had people that have come out and bought yarn from me that are interested in buying a lamb," Schroeder said. "Since I have a website, people might contact me to get a lamb."

"I would love to get more traffic out here, but wholesaling is difficult," Schroeder said. "I would like to be in a few stores so that I would get name recognition."

The Schroeders rent a guest house on their property that overlooks the sheep pasture.

"Caring for the animals is my favorite part," Schroeder said. "I love lambing season, even though you don't get much sleep at night. I am a nurse, so taking care of other people and animals is kind of in my

FISD school plans still in limbo

Superintendent suggests mixed methods may be an option for some

By McKenzie Moellering Standard-Radio Post reporter

Despite receiving information weekly from the Texas Education Agency, the schedule for the 2020-2021 school vear is still uncertain.

COVID-19 case numbers have risen across Texas and Fredericksburg Independent School District is working to develop action plans for the upcoming year.

"TEA continues to communicate with us but the only thing we are moving forward on is that we will have school starting Aug. 17," FISD Supt. Dr. Jeff Brasher said.

School will still be required for all students but there will be two options for learning: remote and in-person.

Parents will communicate with the school and district on which method they want their child to be a part of.

The student will be required to learn using that method for nine weeks.

After that, parents can change how their student learns.

chooses remote learning, they have to use that method for nine weeks. After that, they can choose to move to in-person," Brasher said.

Currently, there is no deadline on when parents have to decide on how they want their student to learn.

Plans could also change if the district would close for two weeks due to an outbreak or if the district shuts down again.

Curriculum

FISD hired a new Superintendent of Curriculum and Instruction on Monday who will begin to look into plans for learning. (See related story in evaluating students. this edition.)

for parents to remember is that those kids that are participating in remote learning, will be held to the same stanis very important for accountability and for school funding."

"For example, if a student to sign that clearly lays out expectations for learning and attendance.

Regular grading procedures will also be the same as in the classroom, rather than the pass/fail system that was implemented in March.

"We are going to have to be very specific about those expectations, holding meetings with those parents so everyone can be on the same page,' Brasher said.

Brasher expects the remote learning plan to have some challenges, including direct teacher support.

Teachers will have to develop lessons for both classroom and in-person learning and remote remote learning, also while

"I think where the real chal-What I think is important lenge is going to be is figuring out how we can support teachers and figuring out what teachers need to support their students," Brasher said. since they have not been in the classroom since March.

Brasher said they are observing schools across the state and nation for ideas and strategies for learning.

We are always looking outside our school walls to figure out the best methods and talking with peers," he said.

CDC guidelines

FISD also continues to monitor and research guidelines set by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

"In addition to following CDC guidelines, we are also having conversations on what else we can do to ensure the safety of our students and staff," Brasher said.

The district is also making safety training materials available to staff online now, rather than stacking it on at the start of the school year.

"We all need to work together, stay calm and do our best to protect our students and staff, while making sure our kids are getting the best, quality, edu-Brasher said the district will brainstorming ideas on how to cational instruction," Brasher

One critical skillset she had was a background in English language arts.

"That's definitely important," Brasher said. "That's an area we're always trying to improve."

Derington's first day will be Monday, July 6.

Jill Minshew, former chief financial officer for Llano ISD, will replace Deborah Ottmers as Assistant Superintendent of Business and Finance.

Brasher called her the "full package" regarding qualities in that position.

"It's a huge asset that she's born and raised in Fredericksburg and her mom taught at Fredericksburg Primary School for many years," Brasher said. "Minshew has the intelligence, the emotional intelligence to be able to communicate with our staff and she has the working experience."

Minshew will start Monday, July 13.

Lastly, the board approved two new district projects.

The majority of these will be funded by a bond from 2018, which has $850,000 left. Others will be funded by $550,000 set aside for local capital projects.

Projects to be covered by the bond include:

Misión de Candelilla to honor Allerkamp at Fiesta

Misión de Candelilla founder Curtis Allerkamp will be honored at Fiesta 2020 on Aug. 1. The Fiesta is held annually to celebrate the mission and service work of volunteers.

hosting their Fiesta 2020 and honoring Curtis Allerkamp, a key player in the mission's foundation, on Saturday, Aug.

The mission will be celebrating another year of changing lives on both sides of the

According to Allerkamp, it is not about him. It is about Misión de Candelilla.

Yet, this year for Fiesta 2020, a celebration of another year of changing lives on both sides of the border, Allerkamp is the honoree.

For 25 years of Misión de Candelilla's 34 years of ministering to the people of Northern Mexico, Allerkamp and his partner and wife, Sara, have helped Misión de Candelilla into what it is today, explained a spokesman for the organization.

Misión de Candelilla is a mission that goes into villages across the border to bring medical care, service projects, Misión de Candelilla will be construction projects and hope through God's love to the people of Northern Mexico, the spokesman said.

> "The mission is made up of doctors, nurses, contractors and everyday people that volunteer their time to reach out, offer a helping hand and give God's love," the spokesman

According to Allerkamp, 'We import hope. When you bring that message of hope, it is irresistible."

Under Allerkamp's leadership, Misión de Candelilla crosses the bridge at Eagle Pass to bring that hope to nine villages twice per year with a total of six trips per year.

With Allerkamp, the goal of Misión de Candelilla is always to be more than a missionary organization.

"Every time I go into Mexico, it is like a family reunion," Allerkamp said. "When we go into these villages and share with people in crisis, whether it be sickness, poverty or any countless other challenges, you just get close. These are the things that drive you together. Everything we do that is worth anything is built on relationships. If I'm not first and foremost loving these people, then the words that come out of my mouth are hollow. God's love is expressed through words and action. That is what I want and have always wanted."

"And love is commitment," Allerkamp said. "We are committed to reaching out. These wonderful people know that when we leave, we will always be back."

Allerkamp, along with Misión de Candelilla, has been going across the border for 25 years and will keep going back.

Fiesta 2020 and the live auction will also live streamed mdcmexico.org.

Texas A&M Forest Service encourages preparation now

Drought conditions in the western High Plains and South Plains and early drying across the state have led to an early start to the summer wildfire season.

Most of the state is trending three to four weeks ahead of typical early summer drying. Fire activity is also increasing earlier than normal, and the rainfall outlook over the next six weeks is not anticipated to be enough to reverse these trends.

Wildfire analysts with Texas A&M Forest Service report Texas could experience a severe summer wildfire season.

"The dryness we are currently seeing across portions of the state is, generally, what we would be experiencing in mid- to late-July," said Brad Smith, Texas A&M Forest Service Predictive Services department head.

"The drought that will carry over from the spring into the summer and the emerging drought that is developing in June have initiated an ily, including pets and liveearly start to the summer fire stock. season. Early summer drying in June also introduces the possibility of experiencing a severe late-summer fire season."

Under these conditions, state officials are tracking an increased number of wildfire ignitions occurring across Texas. Since June 9, Texas A&M Forest Service and local fire departments responded to 90 wildfires that burned a total of 21,692 acres. Many of the recent wildfires are attributed to equipment use, welding, debris burning and roadside

"Texas is experiencing an uptick in wildfire activity across most of the state, and it's easy to think that a wildfire won't impact you until you see the smoke on the horizon," said Kari Hines, Texas A&M Forest Service Firewise coordinator. "Now is the time to prepare your house and property to make them wildfire resilient."

She advises creating an evacuation plan for the fam-dead and dry vegetative material around your house, the driveway, and other important buildings, as this is where embers can gather and start fires," she said.

Protect with preparation

Successfully preparing for a wildfire requires everyone to take personal responsibility for protecting themselves, their families and their properties.

Texas A&M Forest Service encourages Texans to take the following steps around their homes to reduce the risk of wildfire:

- · Clean out gutters of debris.
- Mow and water lawns.
- · Move firewood a minimum of 30 feet from homes.
- Remove anything stored under decks or porches.
- · Make sure home addresses are visible from the tion (TDA) has distributed 300,000 N95 respirators to Texas dentists amid the CO-VID-19 pandemic.

This effort follows TDA's advocacy efforts to safely reopen dental practices.

On May 1, Governor Greg Abbott pledged an emergency shipment of respirators to the TDA for distribution to Texas dentists.

"The Texas Dental Association is ecstatic that, through the strong partnership with Gov. Abbott, 300,000 N95 respirators have been shipped to dentists all throughout Texas," Dr. Charles W. Miller, president of the TDA board, said. "Our top priority is to aid Texas dental practices with the resources and proper protection they need in order to safely reopen and operate. ensuring dental care is safe for all Texas dentists, dental teams and patients."

The TDA subsequently worked with Abbott's office and the Texas Division of Emergency Management (TDEM) on additional sustaining orders so that dentists across the state and their patients can remain safe and confident in the dental office.

"Thank you to the Texas Dental Association for working with us to reopen dental practices across Texas — putting a smile back on the face of Texans," Abbott said in a video distributed to TDA's over 9,000 members statewide.

The show

First produced on Broadway in 1977, "Annie" is based upon the popular Harold Gray comic strip "Little Orphan Annie," with music by Charles Strouse, lyrics by Martin Charnin, and book by Thomas Meehan.

The original production opened and ran for nearly six years, setting box office records. It spawned numerous productions in many countries, as well as national tours, and won seven Tony Awards, including Best Musical.

Many of the songs from "Annie" have become enduring classics, most notably "Tomorrow," "Easy Street," and "It's the Hard Knock Life.'

The musical tells the story of an orphan girl named Annie. With equal measures of pluck and positivity, she charms evervone's hearts despite a nextto-nothing start in 1930s New York City.

Annie is determined to find the parents who abandoned her years ago on the doorstep of a New York City Orphanage that is run by the cruel, embittered Miss Hannigan.

With the help of the other girls in the Orphanage, Annie escapes to the wondrous world of NYC and the home of Daddy Warbucks and friends.

United softball returns to play in showcases

Fredericksburg United Softball 12U, 14U, 16U and 18U teams returned to the field of play with 14 wins in their first weekend back on the field after a five month break due to COVID-19.

United Softball has additional tournaments planned throughout the summer and fall, pending COVID restric-

United 18U won three of four in their first college showcase round-robin in Temple last weekend. Dezirae Hansen and Ella Weinheimer led the team with .375 batting averages.

Weinheimer and Avery Holland both pitched in every game. Weinheimer threw nine innings, gave up just two earned runs and limited opponents to a .216 batting average.

In Holland's seven innings of work, she surrendered no walks and limited opposing batters to a .143 average.

A United team composed of 14U, 16U and 18U players went undefeated in an 18U tournament in Seguin this past Saturday.

The team belted out 52 runs and a .589 team batting average, led by Madison Wright and tournament MVP Olivia Findley.

Wright was 5 for 6 at the plate, and Findley was 13 for 16, including two doubles, nine singles and two bunts.

Brey Mangold, Avery Holland and Ashlyn Rausch pitched all six games in under 10 hours, limiting their opponents to just three earned runs. Holland also hit .700 at the plate, including a triple, four singles and two bunts.

United's 12U team hit .388 as a team and played solid defense, according to coach Paige Findley.

Emily Clopton led the team with five hits in their fourgame championship run.

Bella Findley, Mckaela Crenwelge, Landry Meyer, and Sydney Kuykendall averaged .429

Billies set to disprove prediction

FHS picked to finish fourth in 13-4A DI, says Texas Football

By Joshua McKinney Standard-Radio Post sports editor

A new football season might be in doubt, but one thing's certain: Texas Football is back. Dave Campbell's Texas Football hit store shelves for a 61st consecutive year, giving Lone Star State football fans a taste of this season's hopeful outcomes.

After a year of realignment, Fredericksburg High School finds itself picked fourth out of six teams in District 13-4A

FHS expects to top that, using last year's projected standings as an indication the team can rise above the outside prognostications.

"Certainly, it's fuel for the fire," FHS head coach Lance Moffett said.

Last season, DCTF listed the Billies as last season's preseason No. 4, but FHS proved the rankings wrong.

FHS took the title race down to the wire, facing Lampasas for a shot at the 14-4A DI title in the final week.

FHS started the game with a 14-0 lead before losing the de-facto district championship game to the Badgers,

Lampasas went on to win the Region IV-4A title before losing a state semifinal game against Carthage.

against higher-Wins ranked teams Liberty Hill (No. 1) and Canyon Lake led FHS to a second place finish, the program's highest district placing since the 2013 championship season.

"I think our goal is always to be district champions," Moffett said. "That's what we want to do every time we get ready to start a season and start to play district. We want to win every ballgame and compete for the district title in the last week of the season."

According to DCTF, junior Judson Beard, senior LB/WR Rob Zuberbueler, senior RB/ LB Gavin French and junior DL Zach Wubbolding "form the foundation" of this year's varsity squad.

All four started on varsity last year and earned all-district honors.

Beard and Wubbolding are third-year varsity players as Juniors OL/DE Derek Whitworth, OL/DL Rusty Price and DB/RB Javier Rodriguez, along with senior K Aaron Cordero-Rojas, add experience.

The magazine says Moffett expects junior QB Cole Immel and sophomore LB/RB Gary Seidenberger to "shine" in their debut seasons.

DCTF thinks Lampasas is one of the teams to beat, not only in 13-4A DI, but in all of 4A DI.

The Badgers, ranked No. 3 in all of 4A DI, are set to defend both their district and regional championships from last season.

Lampasas is also picked to make it to the Class 4A DI championship game.

Senior quarterback Ace Whitehead earned the magazine's Cover Boy honors, which highlights the state's top players, for Class 4A.

Whitehead, senior OL John Long and senior linebacker Cade Brister were all selected as preseason all-state players.

"Lampasas lost to a really good Carthage team in the semifinals," Moffett said. "Arguably, if they don't throw two pick-sixes in the semifinals, they might be state champions (last year)."

New district opponent Austin LBJ, ranked No. 13 in 4A DI, is slotted at No. 2 after dropping down from 5A. The Jaguars are led by bluechip prospects DB/WR Andrew Mukuba and DB/WR Latrell McCutchin.

Both players have several offers from Power 5 colleges and made the Texas Football Super Team First Team on defense.

"I certainly agree that Lampasas and LBJ should be picked to win the district and battle for the district championship," Moffett said. "Just based on what they did last vear and the fact that LBJ is moving down from 5A.

Canyon Lake is picked to finish No. 3 in the district.

Burnet (No. 5) and Taylor (No. 6) round out 13-4A DI. FHS will face a pair of state-ranked teams during non-district, maintaining another tough schedule for the season's first half.

Last year's arduous nondistrict slate prepared the Billies for their run through the 14-4A DI schedule

"Yeah, it's going to be tough playing on the road," Moffett said. "You play in Boerne, you play in Kerrville and you play in Wimberley in non-district, then you play in Lampasas and at LBJ. I would say those are arguably the five toughest teams on the schedule and you have to play all of them on the road. I think that's going to be factor in how we perform."

Kerrville Tivy, FHS' Week 2 opponent, ranks No. 17 in 5A DII and plays FHS for a third consecutive year.

The Billies travel to Tivy to play the Antlers on Sept. 4.

The Wimberley Texans, the defending Region IV-4A DII champions, are 4A DII's No. 4 team.

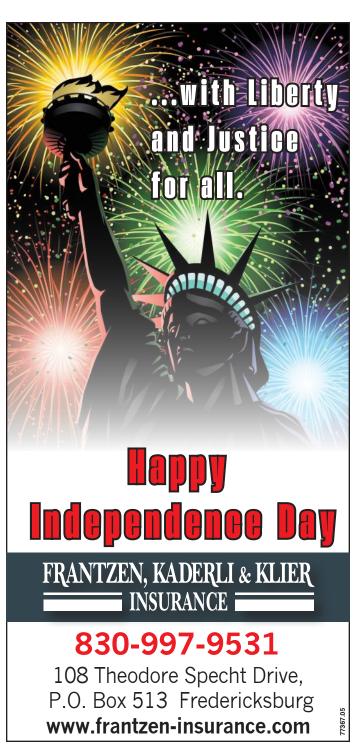

FHS faces the Texans on the road on Sept. 18.

Boerne, FHS' third nondistrict road opponent, is selected to win District 14-4A

LCRA to offer grant money for projects

The Lower Colorado River Authority and its wholesale electric customers are offering grants of up to $50,000 for community projects throughout LCRA's wholesale power, water and transmission service territory.

Applications for this round of Community Development Partnership Program grants are available online in July and must be submitted by midnight on July 31.

Most grants are for $25,000 or less, but each grant cycle includes awards of several grants of up to $50,000.

Applicants requesting more than $5,000 in grant funding must supply matching funds of at least 20 percent of the total project cost.

Eligible organizations include volunteer fire departments, emergency responders, local governments, schools, libraries, civic groups, museums and other non-profit organizations.

The grants are not available to individuals, for-profit entities, professional associations, social service projects or limited-use facilities

Organizations in LCRA's wholesale electric or water service areas have been eligible for CDPP grants in the past.

Beginning in July, LCRA will expand grant eligibility to organizations in areas in which LCRA Transmission Services Corporation provides transmission services

Old building, new look

Historic landmark gets updated interpretation

By Joshua McKinney Standard-Radio Post sports editor

It's a new way to tell an old story about Fredericksburg.

The Vereins Kirche, located smack dab in the middle of Fredericksburg at Marktplatz, reopened Friday, June 26, after undergoing renovations since Feb. 1.

Fredericksburg's symbolic building, used in the logos of both the City of Fredericksburg and Fredericksburg Independent School District, underwent its biggest makeover since the rebuilt structure went up 1935 in time for the Texas Centennial the next year.

The original was torn down in

"It's exciting to have it open," Gillespie County Historical Society curator Lacey LeBleu said. "We were a little bit delayed but getting to see it finally open with everything ready to go and people inside of it is a lot of fun."

The interior has all of the looks of a professional museum, with panels and wall-sized photos telling the story of the Vereins Kirche, Texas and Germany.

"I keep telling people, having started there as a volunteer 18 years ago, it just looked like a very disorganized collection of items that have been brought in," said Evelyn Weinheimer, the Historical Society's archivist. "It now has a central theme. We've gone from tying the Vereins Kirche into Texas, Fredericksburg and Fredericksburg history, including the reason why it was built, its purposes and the story of why it's there. It has so much more significance than it did."

LeBleu, Weinheimer and Historical Society executive director Dr. Jeryl Hoover set out to rewrite interpretations and find historic photographs for the project, giving the Vereins Kirche an updated story.

Each wall comes with three panels: one dedicated to the story of the Vereins Kirche fitting into the wall's overarching theme, what was happening in Fredericksburg at the time and the state of things in Texas.

LeBleu says it gives visitors a better understanding of where the building fit into the bigger world.

The new interpretation has the themes of "Arrival of the Germans to Texas," "Building the Vereins Kirche," "Learning," "Worshiping," "Meeting" and "Preserving."

The last wall is a temporary gallery space focused on the Gillespie County Historical Society.

The Historical Society worked with Chris Frison from Houston-based DG Studios to implement the themes into a cohesive exhibit telling the story of a historic building.

"The major difference people will see when they walk in is it's no longer just a small town, community run (building)," LeBleu said. "We did the best with what we had. With this, we had the ability to hire a professional who designs museums and give it the full interpretation like you would see at any major museum in any town, including Fredericksburg. We used the same company that the National Museum (of the Pacific War) has used for their reinterpretation."

Mask ordinance a simple fix to help stop coronavirus spread

■ hank you, Mayor Gary Neffendorf and the city council, for having the courage and care to institute an ordinance for people to wear masks in the city. As visitors stream back into the county, Gillespie's numbers have quadrupled over the past several weeks.

Neffendorf and health professionals hope to stave off a worse wave as has been seen in nearby Hays and Comal counties, to name a few. On Monday night, Austin policy makers were having to consider another stay-at-home order because cases have spiked again.

We had our say in last week's editorial, but the facts surrounding this respiratory virus are simple:

- Studies show there is a much greater chance of transmission of the virus when the carrier is not wearing a mask.
- There is a much smaller chance of transmission if the carrier is wearing a mask and a healthy person is not.
- If both are wearing masks, there is only a tiny chance of transmission.
- Lastly, as we have learned, transmissions happen before symptoms are pres-

We have to think about our children going back to school in the fall. Let's do what we can now to slow the spread.

Even financial firm Goldman Sachs on Tuesday morning said a national facemask mandate could cut the daily transmission rate by nearly half. And important for our U.S. economy, they added, "a facemask mandate could potentially substitute for lockdowns that would otherwise subtract nearly 5% from GDP."

Fox News' Sean Hannity admitted recently he would wear a mask. "Do it for your mom, your dad, your grandma, your grandpa," Hannity said. A Fox & Friends hosts also echoed that and said President Trump should wear a mask as an example.

The social media boo birds were out in force. Claiming Mayor Neffendorf doesn't care about this community is ridiculous, as he has devoted his life to serving it.

One might think, judging by some social media complainers, that we were being asked to perform a Biblical self-flagellation by simply masking up.

None of we Texans like to be told what to do. But we have a few questions for those who think wearing a simple mask is a slippery slope to the end of freedom:

- · Do we have so little faith in our country's freedoms, institutions and laws that wearing a mask for a few weeks or even months threatens these?
- Do we think wearing a mask prevents us from doing 95% of everything we did previously?
- Do we care so little for the health of others that we can't be bothered to suffer a tiny inconvenience for the good of all?

Again, it is spread by respiratory means. The virus doesn't care if you are old, young, Republican or Democrat, black or white, well-informed or a conspiracy troll. Masks lower risks, period.

Our stubbornness and obstinacy have in part led to the U.S. having 4% of the world population, yet 25% of the total coronavirus cases. We find this mask debate a strange hill to choose to die on.

Let's sacrifice a tiny inconvenience and get past this horrible chapter in our country's history. – K.E.C.

Spike in cases shows need for vote by mail s COVID-19 cases surge across the Astate, Gov. Greg Abbott is urging Texans to stay home as much as possible to slow the virus's deadly spread.

We agree and wish the governor would mandate masks to help prevent the spread of COVID-19 across the state. Unfortunately, Abbott's sound advice does not extend to many voters during the primary runoff elections this summer. While voters 65 and older can vote by mail, that's not a clear option for everyone else — and that's a shame.

Texas election code defines a disability as a "sickness or physical condition" that would prevent a person from voting in person without risking one's health. And the Texas Supreme Court has found that it's up to voters, individually, to decide if they meet such a definition.

Such ambiguity is problematic.

Far better would be to give all voters the option of voting by mail. The concern we have heard is this will lead to fraud, but that's just not accurate. There is little evidence to support this claim.

We are at a moment when parents may choose between sending their kids to school this summer and fall or keeping them home to learn digitally. Many employees are working from home. Public officials are begging people to stay home.

It seems reasonable to think voting could also be done from the safety of one's home. The closer the calendar gets to the general election, when turnout will be high and lines will be long, the more difficult it will be to implement expanded vote by mail.

That would be bad for public health and democracy. - San Antonio Express-

One of my favorite columnists, Stephanie Hayes of the Tampa Bay Times, has a way of getting straight to the point, while also slapping you across the face as a wakeup call.

I started following Hayes on Twitter about a year ago after her short, to-the-point writing style was mentioned in a book I was reading.

Recently, she wrote about how NASA astronauts made Earth in the midst of everything going on. She mentioned the lack of coronavirus in space, how space was a chance face masks up there are much cooler.

Governor caps bars in light of virus

AUSTIN — Gov. Greg Abbott ordered the state to slow down the reopening process for bars and other venues as coronavirus-related infections, hospitalizations and deaths continued to increase in Texas last week.

"As I said from the start, if the positivity rate rose above 10%, the State of Texas would take further action to mitigate the spread of COVID-19." Abbott said. "At this time, it is clear that the rise in cases is largely driven by certain types of activities, including Texans congregating in bars."

Abbott ordered bars and other state-licensed establishments that receive more than 51% of their gross receipts from the sale of alcoholic beverages to close at noon on June 26, but allowed them to continue offering delivery and notice.

The governor allowed restaurants, beginning June 29, to remain open for dine-in service, but at a capacity not to exceed 50% of total listed indoor occupancy.

Also notably, the governor ordered rafting and tubing businesses to close and that approval of local governments before the event.

While stopping short of issuing a statewide order for Texans to wear nose-andmouth-covering masks in public, Abbott did say every Texan "has a responsibility to themselves and their loved ones to wear a mask, wash their hands, stay six feet apart from others in public and stay home if they can."

Meanwhile, after news that the Trump administration planned to cut funding for COVID-19 testing stations in Texas and other states, Abbott announced that the federal government had granted his take-out services until further request to extend operations of community-based testing sites across Texas. The expansion is aimed particularly at Dallas and Houston, where the spread of the deadly, influenza-like disease surged in recent days.

In related news, Abbott issued an executive order on June 25 prohibiting elective outdoor gatherings of 100 surgeries at hospitals in Bexar, or more people obtain the Dallas, Harris and Travis demic."

counties. The order, intended to make more hospital beds available to potential influxes of COVID-19 patients, directs all hospitals in those counties to postpone surgeries and procedures that are not immediately, medically necessary.

Cumulative figures posted June 28 by the Texas Department of State Health Services showed some 148,728 COVID-19 cases reported and 2,393 confirmed deaths resulting from the disease in the Lone Star State.

Study: Impact of military

A study conducted by the comptroller's office estimates that military installations in Texas contributed at least $123 billion to the state economy in 2019 and supported more than 630,000 direct and indirect jobs.

In a June 22 joint news release with the governor's office, Comptroller Glenn Hegar said the military's impact on the state economy "can be felt by every Texan."

Gov. Abbott said, "Now more than ever, these jobs add critical stability for communities focused on economic recovery following the COVID-19 pan-

Masking my flaws, insecurities

've been trying to keep a positive attitude during this coronavirus pandemic. Since all the normal rules of decorum have been bleached out of my household, I've learned to re-adjust my values and daily schedule. A good example of what I mean is the fact that I had a piece of cake for breakfast this morning. On more than a few occasions, I've had a glass of wine or two with lunch.

When it comes to going out to shop for necessities, I get so excited I take a shower, put on makeup, get out of my pajamas and choose a mask to wear. I've sewn about 10 by hand, since I don't own a sewing machine.

They are made from an old bed sheet and some pants that no longer fit me. The first one I made was too small. Wearing it all day gave me a migraine until it exploded off my face when the elastic popped during the fifth hour or use. I've modified my masks and now they fit better.

I have to admit that I wasn't looking forward to wearing one while in the company of others. The first time I put one on I felt self-conscious and a bit silly. But, I was reminded that lives were at stake and besides I saw so many people wearing the masks, it felt the first day of high school again.

I remember that day I had just purchased my first pair of skin-tight, Bugle Boy parachute pants even though I had no power moves, and I won- high school has grown up but to my nose and cheeks. This of fiction.

Just like in high school the more people I saw wearing masks, the more confident I got about my hand-sewn veil.

Sometimes it feels as though I'm back in high school the way some people are harassing letting the weight of my Elton others for wearing masks or for asking others to wear them. worked for exactly two minutes. It allowed the air to go through the mask and not up into my eye area but as the day wore on my glasses became a foggy mess.

The swimmers' tip of spitting on my lenses just made them blurry and foggy.

I drew the line at using antifog wipes or spray because that costs upwards of $50.

I did have a moderate amount of luck with putting soap on my lenses and letting them sit for 10 minutes then wiping the soap off with a dry cloth. It held off the fog for 30 minutes but I had to reapply.

Doctors also tape masks across the bridge of their nose and cheeks while they work, so I tried using the only tape I had on hand – duct tape. All I can say is that there is a reason that the Apollo 13 astronauts used this tape in their air filtration system to keep them alive - it works. Plus, I no longer have to worry about facial hair under my eye area as it has been permanently removed.

However, I no longer have to worry about facial hair at all. Since I've been wearing a mask, my grooming routine has gone the way of my daily schedule. I've decided that I can live with foggy glasses if it means no longer waxing my upper lip.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Real grievance

I would like to address John Rodriguez's willingness to blame "right wing extremists" for the recent "civil disobedience" and "tragic loss of lives and businesses."

Does he not remember what the discontent on the right looked like last time we saw it emerge? Does he not remember TEA Party rallies in 2010 in opposition to the Affordable Care Act and the way in which that legislation was passed? Those rallies stayed within the friendly confines of the First Amendment and expressed an actual grievance with the government, yet remained peaceful. Nothing got destroyed, no one got hurt.

What we are witnessing today is the discontent of the left. We've seen what the discontented right looks like and how they behave. The left, though, stands ready to burn businesses to the ground, silence opposition with violence, tear down historic monuments, and occupy urban spaces to a dangerous extent.

Right wingers had a real grievance with the ACA. What is the left's grievance that compels them to act uncivilly? They have failed to articulate it save for "systemic racism."

What does that mean? If racism is truly systemic in this country, then it means every citizen is racist. It means every institution in our country from your employer to your church to the school board are all racist.

We know that simply is not true, so what is the left's real grievance?

Slow testing

If President Trump's goal is to "slow down the testing," he has achieved that in Gillespie County. Thankfully one of my family members was able to get a drivethru test today, that person's second, since it is the second time this individual has exhibited symptoms.

Not so thankfully, the test results will take 7 to 10 business days! This same test a few weeks ago sent results in 3 to 4 days, which I thought was still a ridiculously long wait.

Pro athletes and many other Americans can get results in 2 to 4 hours, not days. Why should we in rural America have to wait as long as 2 weeks for results? I could get a quicker test result in almost any other country on earth, and having lived and worked in scores of developing countries, I never thought I would consider their public health systems superior to the USA by any metric.

With case numbers on the rise in Texas, if anything, testing should be more readily available with faster results. So my family member will once again be in selfimposed isolation until test results are in.

Discontent...really?

In response to the rampant violence, looting and burning in many of our major cities under the umbrella of the Black Lives Matter movement (largely financed by George Soros!), John Rodriguez lavs the blame on "right wing extremists' instigating civil disobedience as the result of "our desk-pounding White House who prefers a country in turmoil" He goes on to state that, "Total corruption and lawlessness are the order of the day in the White House"

REALLY! Could it possibly be the result of decades of fiscal mismanagement, unchecked corruption and perpetual blatant cronyism imbedded in virtually all of the cities run by the entrenched democrat machines?

We ALL know which side of the congressional isle are the protagonists of political dissent, turmoil, corruption and 'lawlessness," don't we? Their names have become very well known in their pathetically failed character assassination attempts on our president. Mr. Trump has accomplished much more for ALL Americans in three years than the failed

Obama administration in eight years! Yes, these are "dangerous times" for

Barbara Fairley West July 16, 1922 - June 22, 2020

Barbara Fairley West, 97, of Fredericksburg, TX, and formerly of Wink, TX, died Monday, June 22, 2020, at Celeste Care Assisted Living.

Arrangements and cremation were under the direction of Schaetter Funeral Home. A private family service will be held.

Barbara was born July 16, 1922, near Fairbury, Nebraska, the daughter of J. Leaman Fairley and Metta Nelson Fairley. She was raised on the family farm. A strong and independent young woman, she graduated from high school at age sixteen and began teaching at West Bower School near Fairbury, Nebraska. Barbara then attended the University of Nebraska and earned a teaching degree in physical education.

She taught physical education in Pocatello, Idaho and Anchorage, Alaska and she was head of the Women's Physical Education Department at Maryville College in St. Louis, Missouri and at Doane College in Crete, Nebraska.

Barbara loved to travel, and her teaching profession afforded her the opportunity to visit many new places, including a tour of Europe where she attended the 1948 Olympics. While she was teaching in the Panama Canal Zone, she met Wilbur H. West and they were married in Panama City on Dec. 17, 1950. Three children were born while they lived in Panama. When Wilbur was transferred to Cotulla, Texas, Barbara continued to teach physical education. Their fourth child was born there.

Another job transfer sent them to Wink, Texas, where Barbara taught elementary education. Wink was her home for 51 years. Wilbur preceded her in death there on Dec. 26, 1979.

Barbara was active in the First Baptist Church of Wink, teaching Sunday school for many years. She also was a member and past president of the local American Association of University Women chapter, a Girl Scout leader and neighborhood chairman, and a member and past president of the Wink Study Club. She was recognized as the first "Lady of the Year" by the Wink Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, which honored women in the community whose outstanding actions contributed to the betterment of Wink each year.

Anyone who knew Barbara knew how much she loved to travel, exploring the United States in her RV with family and friends. One of the things she enjoyed most was spending summers at her vacation home in the mountains of Colorado.

Barbara West is survived by one son, three daughters, and their spouses: Brian and Barbara West of Granbury, Texas; Kristine and James Reid of Fredericksburg, Texas; Jan and David McCann of Corpus Christi, Texas; and Karen Downing of San Antonio, Texas. She had 5 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren and 2 great-great grandchildren.

We are truly thankful for her love and nurturing care throughout our lives. She will be missed so very much.

Memorials in honor of Barbara West may be made to: Hill Country Memorial Hospice, Meals on Wheels, or another charity of your choice.

Blind corners

Hoping to create awareness among local property owners, particularly those with corner lots. Recent rainfall has produced lush growth from both landscape flora as well as natural brush lines. This condition can create "blind corners," which make crossing or turning left extremely hazardous. One example is the 90-degree curve at the intersection of Basse and Bowie Roads, also the entrance to The Vineyard subdivision.

After writing the property owner expressing my concerns with no results, I contacted the Gillespie County Commissioners Court, only to learn their authority is limited to grooming the right of way adjacent to county roads.

I also learned mine was not the only recorded concern about that particular corner. The result? I no longer risk traveling that route to and from my home; instead, I am forced back on Main Street. Where I thought we were attempting to reduce traffic....

Please look at your property more than 150 years ago when tions. Do what you can to open up line-of-sight for drivers passing through, before the worst happens. Thank you.

Woolsacks legacy

A big thank you to Julia Maenius on the feature story on the recent change of ownership of Woolsacks.

Woolsacks origins trace back my great grandfather, Wilhelm Koock, opened his mercantile store in 1868 in Koocksville, Mason County.

Wilhelm, at age 7 years old, settled in Fredericksburg (via Indianola) in 1846 with his parents, Friedrich Ludwig Koock, a schoolteacher and Caroline Koock, a seamstress. During the voyage from Hamburg to Texas, he had lost three siblings and grew up in the family's log home on Barons Creek. After the Civil War, venturing to Mason County, he founded the community of Koocksville and opened his mercantile store which soon became its hub. His customers were mostly cattle, wool and mohair ranchers.

Forty years ago, Woolsacks chose to continue serve these Texas Hill Country wool and mohair ranchers beginning with the Fredericksburg's wool warehouses followed later by all the wool warehouses in Texas and New Mexico. Today

The new Vereins Kirche interpretation also has a wallsized map of the German immigrants' trail to the Fisher-Miller Land Grant, purchased from the Texas State Library and Archives Commission.

Rev. Casey Zesch and historian Jonathan Baethge from Bethany Lutheran Church provided original Vereins Kirche record books for the Historical Society to reproduce for the exhibit.

Bethany Lutheran is one of the local congregations that used the original Vereins Kirche for religious services.

hen one thinks about prehistoric time in Central Texas, the end of the Pleistocene epoch and the last glacier retreat 12,000 years ago comes to mind. Before the retreat of the glaciers, the climate in Texas was much cooler and the vegetation different than what we see to-

Geologists think Central Texas was primarily covered by tall grasses on the flatter areas and pine and aspen along the river bottoms and the climate was similar to some of the present-day Canadian provinces. During the Pleistocene, mammoths, mastodons, giant bears and saber-toothed cats inhabited the area, but these animals became extinct before the end of the epoch.

As the glaciers retreated, the climate warmed and plants and animals that previously had lived in areas south of here began to expand their territory northward. Some species that had lived here in colder times were still able to thrive in the warmer climate and remained in Texas. And, in the 11,000- to 12,000-plus years since the end of the Pleistocene, still other species evolved as new spe-

Keep cattle hydrated, healthy in summer

Water quantity, quality are key, according to experts

It's hot and getting hotter. Each summer in Texas, farmers and ranchers are on the gambling side of the weather, hoping for an appropriate level of rainfall to water cattle

Although most of the state is not currently experiencing drought-like conditions, the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory, TVMDL, encourages cattle producers to be vigilant during periods of drought or drought-like conditions.

Water deprivation

The most obvious method of mitigating cattle losses due to water deprivation is to ensure they have access to clean and plentiful water

To remain healthy in hot weather, a 1,000-pound heifer may need to drink about 20 gallons daily.

The lack of rain may also lead to far less forage growth. In normal years, green forage may provide some of the daily water requirements for a grazing cow. In drought years, forage becomes much drier and the amount of water available from forage will lessen.

To avoid water deprivation, ensure drink too much too quickly, the liqwater is readily available to cattle

Check the pumps that draw water from wells. Make sure troughs and tanks contain water. Ensure nipple waterers in barns are working prop-

Avoid holding cattle in pens that lack water sources for long periods, and do not work cattle in the heat of the day.

Ensure cattle know where to find

Cattle are creatures of habit. If their preferred tank or trough dries up, animals may ignore other distant watering points in their pasture.

When introducing cattle to new pastures, drive the animals to the troughs or tanks.

Make sure weaned calves know where to find water.

Watch cattle to ensure they are drinking adequately.

Water/salt intoxication

When cattle become excessively dehydrated, sodium levels increase in all tissues, including the brain.

If dehydrated cattle find water and uid will rush to their brains.

As pressure builds in the brains, cattle may develop instability or seizures, or may die from what is known as water/salt intoxication.

Salt intoxication does not mean the animal is getting an excessive load of salt, but rather the sodium concentration is increasing in the body because the animal is deprived of adequate water.

If cattle become dehydrated, they need to drink water immediately — but only in small amounts. If the trough is empty, put a few inches of water in the bottom.

Let all cattle drink at once to create competition for the water. Then repeat several times with 30 minutes between each watering until their thirst is satisfied. Monitor water intake and keep it gradual.

Poor water quality

Hot summer days take their toll on ponds and tanks. As water sources dwindle during a drought, water may become concentrated with salt and other inorganic materials.

Unpalatable water may cause cattle with a veterinary diagnostician.

to avoid troughs or tanks, leading to deprivation and dehydration.

Test water for high concentrations of sodium, calcium, nitrates, magnesium salts and sulfates. If concentrations are high, new sources of fresh water must be provided.

Warm, stagnant water may also encourage the growth of blue-green algae, some of which are toxic. The algae often concentrate on the downwind side of a pond.

Dead rodents, birds or fish along the downwind side of a pond may indicate the presence of blue-green algae that could harm cattle. However, the first indication of blue-green algae could be one or more dead cattle.

Even during a drought, toxic weeds may thrive along the edges of a water

Look along the shorelines of tanks and ponds for toxic weeds, such as small-headed sneezeweed or knotweed, and control grazing to avoid toxic weeds.

To learn more about testing options, visit TVMDL or call the College Station laboratory at 888-646-5623 and schedule a consultation animals here today are a collection of warmer climate species from southern areas, species that survived the glaciers and stayed, and new species evolved since the last glaciers.

But on a human-time scale, going back no more than to Columbus' time, anything that was here then (or evolved here since then) and is here now is considered a "native" species, and there are a lot of them. Something on the order of 30,000 invertebrates, 5,200 plants, 635 birds, 213 reptiles and amphibians and 174 mammals! Over 36,000 species of living things, and that doesn't even count bacteria, fungi and a number of other rid of fences, and bringing a little piece of Texas and its categories of life!

This is a tremendous biodiversity that we have inherited and one we should be protective of. We, in our short time here, have caused the extinction or extirpation of a number of species and have been responsible (intentionally or unintentionally) for the introduction of many non-native species, as well. We have also destroyed much of the land that was once native habitat, but is now suburbs, shopping centers, roads, golf courses, lawns and farms. No part of 21st century Texas looks like it did back then, and we can't get it back now either that would require getting just to name a few things.

But that doesn't mean that we can't make parts of Texas in the 21st century resemble earlier times in terms of most plants and most animals and the general habitat. There are many examples throughout Texas of landowners who manage land that is about as close to our ideal condition as possible. Memories on the wall

'm in the process of moving. Yeah, it blows.

Packing up my things to move from one house to the other has only cemented the idea that I have too much stuff. In my packing, I found notes from articles I wrote years ago, pants that have obviously shrunk while hanging in the closet, beer tabs that probably explain that shrinkage, ID cards and badges from past conventions or seminars attended, expired licenses and park passes, handwritten ideas for books and articles, odds and ends, dust bunnies, and actual wadded up garbage.

One thing that I don't have too many of - and didn't mind moving — were all of my game mounts.

Like most hunters that have mounts, be they skull mounts or full-blown taxidermy mounts, I have them to remember a great time afield. Simply gazing upon an animal I've taken takes me back to that trip. I recall the people I was with, the area I was in, the jokes that were made, the hardships endured, all the failures that somehow added up to a success, and, yes, the opportunity to say aloud, "He tasted pretty good!"

I don't have mounts to brag about all the animals I've killed or even, as some say, to honor the animal taken, but as a reminder of a time well had.

preserving animals since the time of the pharaohs, modern taxidermy probably began roughly 400 years ago when a wealthy Dutch trader, supposedly his entire aviary of exotic birds from the East Indies dropped dead due to neglect. The trader wanted to remember the birds he lost and had their skins preserved then stuffed with cotton and tow cloth.

Taxidermy saw a huge uptick in quality in the 1800s when famed London taxidermy house Rowland Ward presented what was considered to be the most lifelike mount ever crafted entitled Lion and Tiger.

Critics and the general public agreed that this was topped years later in 1867 when French taxidermist Jules Verieaux presented Arab Courier Attacked by Lions at the Paris Fair. The mount depicted an Arab man atop a camel being attacked by two lions and was hailed as being the most life-like taxidermy work ever produced.

The mount was moved to the Pittsburgh's Carnegie Museum of Natural History in 1899 and underwent a restoration in 2017 during which it was discovered that the human mannequin was built upon an actual human skull. Conservator Gretchen Anderson told The Tribune-Review, "The mannequin is purely a mannequin ... except for the skull. It's the mounts I've commissioned why the human face is as accurate as it is."

Of course it is.

Today's taxidermy methods are far superior to those utilized in the 1800s. Mounts are built upon sculpted foam, eyes, tongues, and jaw sets are crafted by world renowned artisans, and taxidermists often Although man has been have extensive knowledge of biology in order to better recreate nature.

The work of today's taxidermists is often considered art and can occasionally be found in shows at art galleries in New York, Paris, Milan and Tokyo.

While I don't think any of could show in a gallery, I'm especially happy with them none the same.

And I love the memories they provide.

Spy games gone bad

Middling family action comedy fails to find right tone

romos for the new family action movie "My Spy" have been popping up on television and on social media for the better part of a vear now.

This isn't because this flick starring that former pro wrestler from the "Guardians of the Galaxy" movies has been eagerly anticipated for so long, rather that multiple studios had little to no idea what to do with the finalized product.

Originally produced by STX and slated for an August 2019 theatrical release, "My Spy" has been bouncing around the release calendar ever since jumping at least a half dozen times before Amazon Studios purchased the rights to the film for a March 2020 release only to have that pushed to its Amazon Prime streaming service June 26 due to the coronavirus pandemic.

The odds have been stacked against director Peter Segal's film and the end result doesn't deliver beyond a casual, free watch online.

Dave Bautista stars as JJ, a former special forces operative turned CIA agent whose personal skills prevent him from being an effective spy, pushing him to protection detail for a nine-year-old girl, Sophie, and her mother. When

Her genuine admiration for Bautista's JJ is an ongoing theme throughout "My Spy," though it's rarely clear what exactly the character has done to prove his worthiness besides being a dopey buttkicker.

The brightest star of a mixed bag, newcomer Chloe Coleman is adorably charming and often downright hilarious as the wise-beyond-hervears Sophie. Out of everyone in the film, Coleman is able to for the outlandishness of the Bautista is a more than plot and deliver a compelling performance that has genuine ast week I ventured out. Out of the house, out of town, out of my comfort zone. I took a class.

Writing a new script

I've always been fascinated by the art of script writing. Which is unusual, because writing of any kind was not a plausible path out of the corn patch, and I never placed myself in a situation where I could work on an actual show.

As a kid I didn't even realize there was such a career option. I thought the Brady kids were all making up their own dialogue as the cameras rolled.

But now when I watch any TV show or movie I'm paying most attention to the only people NOT on the screen — the writers. It's intriguing when you realize every word that Hawkeye Pierce utters and every Frasier foible comes not from their mouths but from the fingers of a sleep-deprived, anxiety-ridden, grad school dropout who clawed their way into this insane career.

While I'll never have the opportunity to write for a real show, I jumped into a session offered by Playhouse 2000 called the Vintage Radio Workshop.

For five days — under the patient guidance of Janice Fronczak, visiting instructor and Professor of Theater at the University of Nebraska at Kearney — six wan-

•You have to build every single thing from scratch.

Especially on radio, there is no detail that can be left out. If a character is addressing another character named Dilbert, the first character has to say, "Dilbert..." If someone brings you a lightbulb, you have to say, "Here comes Tom with the lightbulb." It makes for awkward writing for a reader, but it leads the listener down the dark alley you need to get him to for the next piece of business.

•Sound effects matter.

Much of the painting of the picture is accomplished with sound effects. When a char-

So yes, I got to vicariously be a scriptwriter for a week. I got to do a bit of voice acting, and ended up as the Foley artist the insider name for "sound effects guy."

But here is the most unexpected benefit: I got to try something new, with a group of people I'd never met. That is the point of all art, isn't it?

Texas Caviar & Quinoa

By Case Fischer

The 4th of July is right around the corner, and while we won't be vying for our spots on Main Street to watch the annual parade this year or having large family reunions to celebrate, I still believe it's important to mark Independence Day in some way.

Of course, for me that already hot enough outside no need to slave over a hot

This recipe first appeared in our Better Homes & Gar*dens* story about peaches and 4th of July in Fredericksburg a couple of years ago. It has I thought it worthwhile to share it again.

Texas Caviar is a cold, black-eyed pea-based salad with vegetables, lightly pickled in a vinaigrette-styled dressing. It dates back to the 1940s, created by Helen Cor-Chef who made her home in Caviar. Texas for 40 years.

There are a lot of versions of this salad pretty much every Southern state has one, but we can be proud of the fact that it is a true Texas dish.

This salad is super easy to make, and you can spice it up by adding other elements become such a favorite, that like bell peppers, jalapeños or cherry tomatoes. It also has many uses because you can serve it on the side of grilled meats and fish, top off burgers, or scoop it onto Wieser's Champagne Honey crostini for an easy and tasty appetizer.

Our take on Texas Caviar Corbitt transformed plain includes fresh vinaigrette rinsed and drained

Honey Mustard, Peach Salsa and a secret ingredient — a cup of quinoa. Our son, Simon, has nicknamed this dish Beanoa, but while that name has caught on in our household, we have decided no one else could possibly understand it — while it easily rolls off the tongue, it's just not the same when you see it in print.

Because of its ability to be stored and kept fresh for 4 to 24 hours, Texas Caviar is a great make ahead dish for 4th of July, or any of your summer gatherings. Top it off with avocado, cilantro, or extra fresh salsa and serve it on the side of whatever else you are cooking to celebrate 4th of July.

Ingredients:

For Dressing

- ½ cup lime juice • 2 tablespoon extra-virgin
- 2 tablespoons white wine (or rice) vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Fischer &

- 1 16-oz. can black-eyed peas, rinsed and drained
- 1 16-oz. can black beans,

• 1½ cups fresh or frozen corn kernels (if frozen, completely thaw before using)

- 1 cup cooked quinoa
- 1 cup Fischer & Wieser's
- Das Peach Haus® Peach Salsa
- 1 avocado, diced

Directions:

1. In a small bowl, whip

together the dressing ingredients.

2. In a separate bowl, add black-eyed peas, black beans, corn, quinoa, and Das Peach Haus Peach Salsa. Toss together until fully coated. Cover and chill for 4-24 hours.

3. Add the avocado right before serving.

Tips for picking a sweet watermelon

A good watermelon is a stait is important to know how to pick one, whether at the gro- very sweet. cery store or the local farmers

When it comes time to pick the perfect melon, people often make their selection based on three characteristics: presence of seeds or lack thereof, size and ripeness.

Determining ripeness requires some knowledge; how can an individual pick a ripe watermelon?

On this scale, measurements teach shoppers how to pick the best watermelon.

Tip 1: Find the yellow belly, or the field spot

Other than cutting open a watermelon to see the inside, the field spot is perhaps the best indicator of the ripeness.

This spot on a melon shows where it was laying on the ground while attached to the speakers before the program. The program will be limited to 20 people.

For those who have pre-registered for this program, reminders will be sent out.

The final program will be from noon to 1 p.m. Aug. 28 at the Extension Office and will focus on "Cool Carrots."

Growing information will be given, as well as carrot seeds for participants to try.

Recipes using carrots will be demonstrated.

The cost for individual programs is $15 each, but aften-dance at both programs can be purchased at $25.

Both programs are currently planned as in-person programs, though this may be subject to change due to CO-VID-19.

A virtual option is available upon request.

Persons interested in participating virtually are asked to make the request by noon on July 9.

The contest is divided into three age divisions: third-fifth grade members are juniors. sixth-eighth grade members are intermediates and ninth-12th grade members are seniors.

Ten 4-H members participated in the contest.

Participants take photos and then decide which category is the best fit for photographs. Photographs are evaluated on their impact, creativity, technicality, composition and the image's ability to evoke imagination.

Judges awards points based upon a Blue, Red, White and Participant system with awards.

In each age division for each category, a Best of Category winning photo is selected.

Local Community Marketing Matching Grants

The Fredericksburg Standard has established a grant fund to assist locally owned businesses with marketing during this challenging situation. As a longtime local business partner, we are committed to helping our local businesses and organizations get ready for the rebound, reach customers and rebuild their business.

What You Need to Know

Grants of matching advertising dollars awarded can be used toward print or digital advertising with the Fredericksburg Standard. These are not cash grants, but matching funds so every dollar invested by the local business will be matched by the Marketing Grant fund. Grants are available for a minimum of $200 and a maximum of $4500 of matching funds during the months of May, June & July.

How Can I Receive the Grant?

Go to www.reboundgrants.com and complete the application. A local representative will reach out withinn 2-3 business days to let you know if you qualify. If you have questions, feel free to email us at ken@fredericksburgstandard.com or kim@fredericksburgstandard.com.

Why?

We are committed to making a difference to the lives and livelihoods of the people we serve in our community. Getting through this pandemic will be a community wide effort. This grant program is one of our efforts to do our part.

President's welcome

elcome to the 2020 summer racing season and the 132nd Gillespie County Fair.

I am proud to be a member of the oldest, continuous county fair in Texas. The Gillespie County Fair is a long-standing tradition which has been upheld by the hard work of directors, previous directors and volunteers from Gillespie County.

On behalf of the board of directors, I want to extend our sincere appreciation and thank you for your support of the 2020 summer season and the 132nd Gillespie County Fair.

This year, the season kicks off with the Fourth of July Race Meet on Saturday and Sunday, July 4-5. Come out and place a bet on the fastest horse and have a cold beverage.

The second race weekend will be Saturday and Sunday, July 18-19, along with the Lonestar BBQ Cook-Off and CASI Chili Cook-Off.

In August, we will start the month with the Race Day Classic Steer Show on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1-2. Then, on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 8-9, we have another weekend of horse racing lined up along with the quarter horse futurity trials competing for the ($100,000-plus) Gillespie County Fair Futurity.

On Saturday, Aug. 15 will be the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Meat Goat and Lamb Futurities.

The 132nd Gillespie County Fair will run Thursday through Sunday, Aug. 20-23.

Thursday night is free admission family night to kick off our four-day event with a free live concert by Los Pedernales.

Friday morning, we start with the Fair Parade at 10 a.m. on Main Street. The fair gates open at 1 p.m. with the carnival and livestock judging, goat roping and much more.

Friday night, Jody Nix and the Texas Cowboys will take the stage.

Friday and Saturday, we will have livestock shows over in the Show Barn.

A day of horse racing starts at 1 p.m. on Saturday.

Following the races, get ready for great country music with Chancey Williams, followed by the legendary Mark Chesnutt.

Sunday is the final day of the 2020 season of horse racing and the big race day for the Gillespie County Fair Futurity.

We invite you to come out to the 132nd Gillespie County Fair and enjoy the food, drinks, horse racing and all the festivities.

Throughout the fair, the carnival and midway will be running full swing, livestock will be in the barns for all to see, and the Exhibition Hall will be filled with home and agriculture products as well as community booths and, of course, your favorite fair food.

The weekend also includes goat roping, an antique tractor show and much more.

Our final event of the year will be the 24th annual Scholarship Fest, on Saturday, Sept. 26. We will have a college alumni cook-off, games, prizes, plus live and silent auctions to raise money for our scholarship program.

Each year we give out many scholarships to graduating seniors as well as college students. To date we have given $472,500 in scholarships to 756 of our local students.

It is an honor and a privilege to serve as president of the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association and the 132nd Gillespie County Fair.

I want to thank you for supporting this great organization. Come join us for all the exciting events this summer.

2020 Catalog Dedication

LARRY DUECKER

The 132nd Gillespie County Fair is dedicated to Larry Duecker, an Honorary Lifetime Director of the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association, Inc.

He served on the board of directors for 16 years, from 1995-2011.

During that time, he served as treasurer in 1999-2000 and again in 2000-2001. He served as vice president in 2008-2009 and then as president in 2009-2010.

Along with serving as president of the association, Larry served on a number of committees, including Property and Grounds, Parade, Video, Float and Finance.

Outside of the fair association, Larry is retired. Larry is a member of Holy Ghost Lutheran Church where he served on the church council from 1997-1999 and was chairman of the property and grounds committee from 1999-2001. He was also president of the Kindernest Montessori School Board in 2000-2001.

Larry's family includes wife, Vicky; son and daughter-in-law, Barret and Christine Duecker; daughter and son-in-law, Heather and Kyle Koch, and four grandchildren, Koen and Hailey Koch, and Makenna and Kaden Duecker. He also has a step-daughter and son-in-law, Alex and Michael Scholz, and four step-grandchildren, Robbie, Liam, Christopher and Theodore Scholz.

"I have to thank my family for their support while on the board. Without their support, I would not have been able to dedicate myself to serve as a director," Duecker said.

The directors of the 132nd Gillespie County Fair are honored to recognize Larry for his years of service and dedication to the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association.

During that time, he served on a number of committees which included the Livestock, Agriculture, Bar, Starting Gate and Track Crew.

He also served as chairman and co-chairman of the Grounds Committee for several years.

Korey volunteered with the fair association while in high school with the Sheep Dog Trials held during the fair.

In the first years of pari-mutuel horse racing, Korey worked with the video crew.

Although he has retired from the board, Korey continues to volunteer on the track, driving a tractor and plowing the track between races.

Some of his fondest memories are when his youngest daughter, Jordan, would ride in the tractor with him during the races.

Outside of the fair association, Korey works for the City of Fredericksburg Parks Department. He also farms and ranches.

His family includes wife, Cindy, and daughters, Jackie Maldanado and Jordan Zenner.

The directors of the 132nd Gillespie County Fair are honored to recognize Korey for his years of service and dedication to the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association.

GCFFA implements safety measures

While the Gillespie County Fair is still on the books for 2020, restrictions are being put in place in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

"We're still planning to have it at this time," said a GCFFA representative. "We will have signs reminding people on the grounds about social distancing and we'll set out hand sanitizing stations."

Parade

The Gillespie County Fair Parade is still scheduled to be held Aug. 21, beginning at 10 a.m.

However, the final decision on whether or not to hold the parade is up to the City of Fredericksburg.

Carnival

The carnival will have some restrictions, as well.

Walkways will be extended from 30 feet to about 50 feet and rides will be further apart, said Rickey Moore Sr., owner of Moore's Greater Shows.

Hand sanitizers will be at every ride, game and food station. Rides and games will be sanitized daily and high traffic areas will be sanitized hourly.

Employees will be required to wear masks while loading and unloading rides. Employees will also undergo wellness checks daily.

CHANGES

Any changes that may occur due to COVID-19, after the printing of this catalog, can be seen on the GCFFA website at www.gillespiefair.com or on their Facebook pages.

Any event sponsored that is canceled due to COVID-19, will carry over to 2021 sponsorship(s).

Information will also be updated in the Fredericksburg Standard-Radio Post.

Signage will be posted encouraging mask wearing and social distancing.

Concerts

Concerts are still scheduled, and tape will likely be put on the ground as encouragement to social distance.

The concert lineup is listed below:

- Thursday, Aug. 20 Los Pedernales, 7-11 p.m.
 - Friday, Aug. 21 Jody Nix & The Texas Cowboys, 8 p.m.

• Saturday, Aug. 22 - Chancey Williams and the Younger Brothers Band, 8 p.m.; Mark Chesnutt, 10 p.m.

Race changes

Another change will be in horse racing seating, as no box seat tickets will be sold. General admission seating will skip rows.

General admission seats, which are available in the grandstand and in the Biergarten, are $10 for adults (ages 13 and up), $5 for children six to 12 years of age and free for children five and under.

Other changes to the horse racing, which begins Saturday and Sunday, July 4-5, include signs reminding patrons of safety precautions, tape on the ground for social distancing, one-way entrance to the grounds, grand-stands and hand sanitizing stations.

The Night In Old Fredericksburg celebration, originally scheduled for Saturday, July 18, has been canceled. The Gillespie County Race Day Classic Steer Show has been moved to Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1-2.

Mobile betting will be offered this year, allowing people to place bets on their phones.

This will only work if the bettor is on GCFFA premises.

Eight days of live pari-mutuel horse racing will be offered in July and August at the Gillespie County Fair Grounds. Races will be run July 4-5, July 18-19, Aug. 8-9 and Aug. 22-23 (as part of the 132nd Gillespie County Fair Aug. 20-23). — Standard-Radio Post file photo

Horses back on the track

A summer season of live parimutuel horse racing returns to the Gillespie County Fair Grounds in July and August.

Eight days of racing are on the 2020 schedule at the Class III track.

Sponsored by the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association, Inc., the weekend race meets will also include special events and activities.

The 2020 live racing season opens with the July Fourth Race Meet on Saturday and Sunday, July 4-5.

Racing action at the five-eighths mile oval continues on Saturday and Sunday, July 18-19, with the Night In Old Fredericksburg Race Meet during the day, but the Night In Old Fredericksburg evening events have been canceled for 2020.

The Original Race Day Classic Steer Show, originally scheduled to take place July 18-19, has been moved to Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 1-2.

The Gillespie County Race Meet is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 8-9.

racing season will be two days of races on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22-23, as part of the 132nd Gillespie County Fair (Aug. 20-23).

Post time each day is 1 p.m.

As in the past, the Gillespie County Fair Grounds will offer race fans a covered grandstand, numerous betting windows, tote board, easy access and plenty of free parking.

This year, the GCFA will be offering mobile betting. Through this service, bettors can place their wages from their phones.

However, the service will only work on the GCFA premises, so patrons will need to physically be on the grounds to use this option, explained fair association officials.

Only general admission seating is available this year, and these seats are available in both the grandstand and in the Biergarten.

These general admission seats will take social distancing protocols into consideration.

General admission for the races is $10 for adults (ages 13 and up), $5 for children six to 12 years of age and free for children five and under.

Also available are summer season passes for $60.

Online ticketing for all Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association-sponsored events at the fair grounds is available through the fair association's website at www.gillespiefair.com.

In addition to the eight days of live racing at the local Class III facility, a simulcast facility is open at 35 Fair Drive for year-round wagering.

Simulcasting at The Race Barn is offered Thursdays through Sundays from horse and dog tracks around the country. The facility offers food and beverages.

Race Barn offers horse, dog track simulacasting year-round

Food, beverages and plenty of racing is available at The Race Barn, located at 35 Fair Drive, just off Texas 16 South.

The Race Barn, an air-conditioned facility adjacent to the Gillespie County Fair Grounds entrance, is located about two miles south of Fredericksburg's Main Street.

There, through simulcasting, racing fans can wager just as if they were sitting at one of the many tracks located around the nation, as well as one of four parimutuel racing meets run here each summer at the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association's five-eighths-mile Class III oval.

Bettors and enthusiasts can view races from around the country on more than 30 screens in the facility.

Featuring horse and dog racing from New York, Florida, Kentucky, California, Louisiana and other parts of Texas, the Race Barn is open Thursdays through Sundays, starting at 11 a.m.

Simulcast races can be viewed on television screens (including two giant screens) spaced throughout The Race Barn where racing programs from any track can also be purchased.

Crown and Breeder's Cup and on Labor Day, when the All-American Futurity is held. The Kentucky Derby still draws the largest single-day crowd.

Built in the style of the exhibition hall at the old fair grounds where today's H-E-B is located, The Race Barn opened for business in April 2003.

In keeping with the local historic theme, many of the overhead light fixtures were the actual ones used along Fredericksburg's Main Street many years ago.

Information about The Race Barn is available at 997-4058 or by visiting the website, www.theracebarn.com.

A Blue Ribbon tradition

It seems like every year brings a challenge when it comes to sponsoring a celebration over 130 years in the making, and this year is no different.

The country is in the midst of the COVID-19 pandemic, and as Texas continues to reopen, officials with the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association are making plans for the 132nd Gillespie County Fair.

This year's celebration will see changes and modifications, some of which might not be determined up until the actual event Thursday through Sunday, Aug. 20-23, at the Gillespie County Fair Grounds.

Plans for this year's 132nd celebration include two days of live pari-mutuel horse racing, a carnival and midway, displays of agricultural and home products, a parade, a queen's contest, antique machinery displays, musical entertainment and livestock shows.

The 132nd Gillespie County Fair opens on Thursday, Aug. 20, at 5 p.m. with free admission to the grounds.

A free Tejano concert will be provided by Los Pedernales beginning at 6 p.m.

There is a charge for the carnival and midway, which also opens Thursday and continues throughout the weekend.

Earlier on Thursday, entries will be taken in the agriculture and home skills departments from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Judging gets underway at 6:30 p.m.

Plans are also being made to once again offer the Gillespie County Fair Parade on Main Street, Friday morning, Aug. 21, starting at 10 a.m.

However, at this time, the parade is tentative, and updates will be posted as they become available.

After the parade, events shift back to the fair grounds where the gates open at 1 p.m.

Catalog dedications will be made on Friday evening

The 132nd Gillespie County Fair is dedicated to honorary lifetime directors Larry Duecker and Korey Zenner.

A concert and dance, featuring the music of Jody Nix and the Texas Cowboys will take place Friday, Aug. 21, starting at 8 p.m. on the outdoor pavilion.

Live pari-mutuel horse racing will be offered Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22-23, with post time at 1 p.m. both days.

Highlighting the entertainment Saturday night, Aug. 22, will be Chancey Williams and The Younger Brothers Band at 8 p.m. followed by headliner Mark Chesnutt at 10 p.m.

The 2020 racing season at the Class III facility at the fair grounds concludes on Sunday.

Highlighting the racing program on the final day of the season will be the running of the 2020 Gillespie County Fair Futurity.

Fair queen, duchesses make most out of historic year

A global pandemic may have hindered the regular responsibilities of the Gillespie County Fair & Festivals Association Queen's Court, but it didn't stop the group from representing their community.

The court, consisting of Queen Brittley Bowers, First Duchess Ella Sanchez, Second Duchess Taylor DeLong and Third Duchess Lauren Beyer, made the most out of each experience, while also learning more about their hometown.

Long-time dream

All four girls had their sights set on representing Gillespie County since they were young.

"I decided to run for fair queen because it's something so special to my family," Bowers said. "Being that my mom and aunt were both on the court back in the day, I wanted to continue the tradition and serve the county that has given me so much."

"Growing up around the fair association, I have had the opportunity to be around many different fair courts throughout the years," DeLong said. "I have always looked up to them and I knew it was something that I wanted to do. I have seen little girls look up to me like I looked up to past courts."

For Beyer, it was the chance to fulfill a dream.

"I wanted to be a fair duchess ever since I was little watching parades and seeing those girls wear pretty dresses and crowns," she said.

Unexpected turn

Most years, the court spends the year at other area parades, building relationships in the community and attending events organized by the Gillespie County Fair Association. $\,$

This year, the COVID-19 pandemic hit in mid-March, altering their schedule and responsibilities.

"No one knew how this year was going to turn out," DeLong said. "While we aren't going to any parades this year, we are still working together, making our float, getting dresses and taking catalog photos."

In a normal year, the court would have participated in six parades by mid-June.

"I am very saddened about not being able to be in a parade during our reign," Sanchez said. "I am hopeful that we will be able to show off our float in the fair parade and make the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association and Fredericksburg proud."

"We have created many memories despite not being able to go to parades or other events," Beyer said. "We still got to spend many nights at the fair grounds decorating our float with laughs and purple glitter."

The group was still able to participate in the Gillespie County Youth Livestock Show Sale.

"Despite the circumstances, we have been able to create memories as we work on the float and spend time together," Bowers said.

Royal representation

While this year is different from most, the fair court is still active in their duties and representing Gillespie County wherever they go.

"Being able to represent the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association, is something that is so special to my heart," Bowers said. "This association and county are always giving us so much, so it means so much to be able to give back to them."

"It is an honor to have the chance to represent the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association, not only for my community but for my family," DeLong said. "Being a representative for a place that believes in helping the community and making sure that people have the best time, is an amazing opportunity."

"I often use the word 'one' to represent Gillespie County to someone who has never been here before," Sanchez said. "In this town, we are all family and we are all together through everything. That is my favorite thing about Fredericksburg."

Bowers added that no matter where they have gone in the county, the court has always been welcomed.

"Gillespie County is one of the most inclusive counties you will ever visit," she said. "From everyone smiling at each other when they pass, to the hometown feeling you get when you're here, Gillespie County is a very special place. The memories made here will stick with people for the rest of their lives"

The court also participates in events like Scholarship Fest, the Wild Game Dinner and horse races.

"I love seeing the behind-the-scenes of the horse races and getting to understand them better," Sanchez said.

All four girls valued the opportunity to be a role model for younger girls.

"I love being a part of the diversity of the fair court and giving each and every little girl hope that one day, she too, can be a part of the Gillespie County Fair Queen's Court," Sanchez said

"Being able to represent the fair association is everything but being a role model to little girls, is a dream that means even more," Beyer said.

Process

Before becoming a member of the court, each contestant had to participate in last year's Gillespie County Fair Parade, and public and private interviews.

"There is a lot that can overwhelm you, but it was definitely worth it," DeLong said. "For future contestants, I would tell them to have has much fun as possible. The bond you make with your court is amazing."

For Sanchez, it was a chance to meet new people.

"I got tao make a lot of new bonds with some girls I had never met before," she said. "There wasn't really a challenging aspect, but I just had to remind myself to be confident, outgoing and be willing to open myself up to others.

Beyer said the process was easy but also stressful.

"For me, public speaking was the most challenging part of the whole process," she said. "I was worried about saying the wrong thing or what would happen if my brain went blank."

"Don't be scared, try new things and step out of your comfort zone," Bowers said. "Never let the fear of something keep you from doing something new."

You can bet on our family being here for yours.

Parade leads the way

Citizens and visitors alike will line up along the side-walks of Main Street as the 132nd Gillespie County Fair Parade rolls through on Fri-day, Aug. 21.

Entrants are expected to begin lining up after 7 a.m.

Judging of the entries will begin at 8:30 a.m., while the parade will start promptly at 10 a.m.

Online entries can be made at http://www.gillespiefair.net/gillespie-county-fair/.

For this year's parade, Marvin Crenwelge serves as the chairperson while Edward Stroeher and Lindsay Crenwelge are co-chairs.

Parade day volunteers will help arrange entries ranging from floats, to new and old vehicles, to flatbed trailers, to horsemen.

There will be commercial entries serving as mobile advertising for their products or services, and others will represent churches, civic groups and other area organizations seeking to get their message seen by thousands of parade viewers.

The parade grand marshals are to be announced.

This year's fair catalog honorees are Larry Duecker and Korey Zenner.

Other dignitaries in the parade will include the contestants seeking the title of the 2021 Gillespie County Fair Queen.

Fredericksburg and Harper high school marching bands will take part in the parade, and floats from area communities and fairs throughout Central and South Texas will seek to bring patrons to their own events.

A few rules must be observed by participants and parade watchers.

- All vehicles in the parade must be able to navigate the entire parade route and make all turns and clearances without difficulty.
- It is each driver's responsible to see to it that their vehicle or float clears all obstacles and can maneuver turns. If the route includes a U-turn, parade entries must be able to maneuver and make a U-turn in one motion (no reversing). Participants must design their entry in length, width and height to meet this requirement. Floats and entries cannot exceed the 13 feet, 6 inch height limit from ground to top of float/entry.

- To reduce gaps, vehicles should maintain their speed to the pace of a slow walk and stay within two to three car lengths of the preceding entry.
- Entries are not allowed to stop or impede the forward motion of the parade at any time with performances, dancing, stopping to rev engines, or any other action that alters parade movement.

Performing groups should choreograph routines to maintain forward motion.

- No candy or other enticements will be thrown/handed from any entry to spectators.
 - No jumping on or off moving

Chesnutt leads lineup for fair entertainment

Mark Chesnutt

Neo-honkey tonker Mark Chesnutt headlines the Gillespie County Fair's live entertainment when he goes onstage at 10 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 22.

Chesnutt parlayed a solid grounding in classic country into chart-topping stardom during the 1990s.

The Beaumont native grew up listening to his father's extensive country record collection and learned both guitar and drums, and made his professional singing debut with his father's band at 15.

During the 1980s, Chesnutt released singles on local labels and also served as the house headliner at the Beaumont Club Cutter's.

Chesnutt's debut album, Too Cold at Home, was released in 1990 and the title track became his first hit, climbing into the country top five.

The album scored four more top 10 hits and followed with four more on his 1992 album Longnecks and Short Stories.

His latest release is Tradition Lives, which reached 22 on Billboard's U.S. Top Country Albums chart.

Chancey Williams and the Younger Brother Band

Wyoming-based Chancey Williams and the Younger Brother Band is the opening act for Saturday's entertainment and is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

The band has shared the stage with fellow country music stars Lady A, Old Dominion, Miranda Lambert, Eric Church, Brantley Gilbert, Gary Allan and Travis Tritt, and shared bills with Texas contemporaries like Casey Donahew, Aaron Watson and Stoney LaRue.

Rodeo Cold Beer is the 2017 commercial follow-up to the Billboard Heatseekers Charting album, "Echo." The latest record was awarded Album of the Year at the 2017 Rocky Mountain Music Awards.

In 2016, the lead single, "Down With That" was named the Rocky Mountain Music Awards Song of the Year.

In December, the band performed at the opening ceremony of the ninth round of the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas. Williams also performed at the opening ceremony of the WNFR in 2016.

Jody Nix and The Texas Cowboys

Western swing artist Jody Nix and The Texas Cowboys will take the stage at the Gillespie County Fair at 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 21.

Jody Nix started playing drums in his father, Hoyle

Jody Nix

Nix's band at age 8, playing five nights a week.

Nix played with country music pioneer Bob Wills at the age of 21 on the 1973 album Bob Wills and His Texas Playboys for the Last Time.

He has 11 albums of his own and played as a guest artist for both of Asleep At The Wheel's "Tribute to Bob Wills" albums.

Nix is a member of the Western Swing

Society Hall of Fame and the Texas Western Swing Hall of Fame.

Los Pedernales

Free music at the Gillespie County Fair on Thursday, Aug. 20, features the band Los Pedernales from 7-11 p.m.

The quintet formed in 1990, enjoying their international breakthrough six years later with their EMI label debut Del Mono Colorado.

Annual fest raises monies for scholarships

A variety of foods will be served, prizes given away and live and silent auctions just waiting for bidders will be featured at the 24th annual Scholarship Fest on Saturday, Sept. 26, at the Gillespie County Fair Grounds.

Gates open at 3 p.m.

Sponsored by the Gillespie
County Fair and Festivals
Association, the event includes afternoon activities, appetizers, a dinner, silent and live auctions and a prize drawing for thousands of dollars in prizes donated by local and area businesses and individuals.

Monies raised from the event go toward the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association's scholarship program.

MORE INFORMATION

More information on Scholarship Fest, as well as other activities at the fair grounds is available by calling 830-997-2359 or visiting www.gillespiefair.com.

Since 1991, the fair association has awarded $472,500 in scholarships to 756 Gillespie County high school students.

Scholarship tickets are $20 each and will be sold at the office at the fair grounds, from directors of the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association and at locations around the county.

For dinner, a barbecue brisket meal with all the trimmings will be served.

Thousands of dollars in prizes and auction items will be available, including guns, hunting and fishing equipment, jewelry, gift certificates and more.

Individuals and businesses interested in donating cash or prizes to the event are asked to call the fair association office at 997-2359.

Tickets for the prizes to be given away at Scholarship Fest will also be available at the fair office, from the directors and at locations around the county.

Along with the prize drawing will be a live auction featuring cakes baked and decorated by the 2020 Gillespie County Fair Queen and Duchesses as well as other items.

Fairs on the zeros

The Gillespie County Fair has been held for centuries and represents the tradition and culture of the Hill Country.

Though some things have changed with the times, the heart of the fair festivities has remained the same.

The fair of 1910 marked the 25th anniversary of the Gillespie County Fair. The fair was held over the Sept. 14-17 weekend.

Eating stands, ice cream, confectionary, feed and hobby horses were some of the attractions held on the fair grounds.

A grand ball was held every night at Klaerner's Hall after the festivities and horse races commenced.

The fair was held Sept. 17-19. Children were admitted for a quarter, and adults were 50 cents.

Picture shows and dancing were at Klaerner's each night of the weekend.

E.H. Riley was the president of the 34th annual Gillespie County Fair. F.W. Arhelger was the vice president; Ad. Gold was treasurer; and Henry Hirsch, secretary.

Horse races were held at 2 p.m. each day.

No information available.

1940

The annual Gillespie County Fair was cut short by rain showers the weekend of Aug. 15-17.

The Fair Park received 1.60 inches to close the festivities early on Sunday. This was the first rainfall in over a month for the county.

Horse races and a rodeo were able to complete the first two nights.

The exhibition barns were filled with local booths and organizations, including the Girl Scouts exhibit which offered first aid information.

The fair spanned the weekend of Aug. 18-20.

The officers for the fair included Joe S. Petsch, president; Elgin Heimann, vice president; Norman C. Rech, treasurer; Max O. Reinbach, corresponding secretary; Walter F. Hohmann, recording secretary.

Adolph Stieler was named the prominent Hill Country rancher.

A gala, baseball games, concerts, horse racing, carnival events and assorted attractions were presented to fair-goers.

The carnival was provided by Don Franklin Shows with attractions such as "Bozo The Clown," making his second appearance; Wayne Wintin and His Horses; Johnny Reagan, the Australian cowboy; Red River Dave and the Austin Order of the Arrow Indian Dancers at the 62nd annual fair.

Kallenberg's Pharmacy won first place in the local entries for the fair parade.

The baseball tournament was held at Jimmy Pyka Field, located on the infield of the race track. The Fredericksburg Giants, Kerrville Athletics, Goldthwaite and the Lackland Warhawks competed.

1960

The fair was the weekend of Aug. 26-28.

The annual fair parade spanned over two miles in length to precede the carnival activities.

The Sweetheart of South Texas Fairs-Stock Shows was Beverly Martin.

The Gillespie
County Fair officers were James Kraus,
president; Wm. M.
Petmecky, vice president; W.E. Loudon Jr.,
treasurer; Rudy Olfers,
recording secretary;
Mrs. Bill Petmecky, secretary.

The Fredericksburg Giants, Pat's Cubs, the Boerne White Sox and Camp Stanley competed in the baseball tournament held over the weekend.

Khe Macy won the mile and 70 feature race at Gillespie Downs. Dorothy Crenwelge reigned as the 72nd fair queen.

The fair spanned the weekend of Aug. 21-23.

Karen Kneese was the Gillespie County Fair Queen. Her duchesses were Sandra Feller and Linda Ahrens.

Admission for children was free for the first night of the carnival.

Fair officers were Wallace Ottmers, president; Wm. M. Petmecky, executive vice president; E.A.

Weimer, vice president; W.E. Loudon, treasurer; Fred E. Dietel, recording secretary; Evelyn Tatum, office secretary.

1980

The fair was held over the weekend of Aug. 22-24.

The fair weekend weather received record breaking temperatures for the summer of 1980. The community exhibits presented included four major and 46 minor farm products from the county. Over 12,000 fair-goers strolled the grounds over the weekend.

The jockey of the year was riding the horse Sunnyside Liquor. The highest priced pig for the livestock exhibition was a Duroc boar by Russ Baize for $1.190.

The Gillespie County Fair officers for the 92nd county fair were Calvin Weinheimer, president; Wilbert Seipp, vice president; Billy Roeder, administrative assistant; Gregory Knopp, recording secretary; Ray C. Geistweidt, treasurer; and Evelyn Tatum, office secretary.

Debbie Jung was the 1980 Gillespie

County Fair queen. Her duchesses were Trudy Ottmers and Katherine Loth. Officials claimed the annual parade was the longest in history to date.

The fair was held Aug. 23-26. The gates to the grounds opened at 11 a.m. over the weekend.

An estimated 12,552 racing fans were in the grandstands over the weekend. A petting zoo and the Fredericksburg Antique Tractor and Gas Engine Club were some of the attractions offered for those in attendance.

Earl Thomas Conley and Scott Hofmann and Southern Image were some the entertainment shows for the nights at the fair grounds. The fair officers were Milton Jung, president; Troy Ottmers, vice president; Bryon Schaetter, second vice president; Gordon Ransleben, secretary; Guenther G. Ottmers Jr., treasurer; Bob Weber, office manager; Lena Robertson, office

Ready to bet?

Make an educated guess — understand the racing program

TYPES OF RACE FINISHES:

- WIN Bet a horse to "win" and collect the "win" payoff if it finishes first.
- PLACE Bet a horse to "place" and collect the "place" payoff if it finishes first or second.
- SHOW Bet a horse to "show" and collect the "show" payoff if it finishes first, second or third.

*For a more detailed breakdown of the racing program information, see a diagram included in the specific programs issued prior to each of the race meets.

How to bet?

Head to the betting window and give the teller this information:

- 1.) The number of the race betting on and the amount of money that is being wagered from $2 and up.
- 2.) The type of wager such as "Win", "Place", "Show", "Quinella", "Exacta", "Trifecta", etc.
- 3.) The official program number of the horse or horses for the bet. It was noted that bettors should not use the horse's name.

For example, say: "In the first race, I would like $2 to Win on number one." or "In the second race, I would like a $2 Exacta with 7-2."

RACING GLOSSARY

Α

ACROSS THE BOARD: Bet a horse to win, place and show, and if the horse wins, the bettor collects all three ways.

D

DAILY DOUBLE: In a "Daily Double", the bettor picks the winners of two consecutive races designated as "Daily Double" in the official race program. The wager must be made before the start of the first of the two races. For example: "$2 Daily Double 8-9" means the bettor has selected the 8 horse in the first half and the 9 horse in the second half.

Е

EXACTA: Pick the top two finishers in the exact order in which they finish. Example: "$2 exacta 1-2" means the number one horse has to finish first and the number two horse has to finish second.

EXACTA BOX: Bettors can "box" two, three or more horses to cover a number of possible combinations. For example: a three-horse exacta box would make for six combinations and would cost $12 for a $2 bet. A "$2 Exacta Box 3-4-5" means any two of the three horses must finish first and second, in any order.

QUINELLA: Pick the top two finishers in any order in the race. Example: "$2 Quinella 1-2" means the one and two horses finishes first and second in any order.

QUINELLA BOX: Choose more than two horses for a Quinella box. For example, a three-horse box (three wagers) would cost $6, a four-horse box (six wagers) costs $12 and a five-horse box (10 wagers) costs $20. Of those horses selected, two of them must finish first and second, in any order.

SUPERFECTA: Pick the top four finishers in a race in the exact order.

Т

TRIFECTA: Pick the top three finishers in the exact order. Example: "$2 Trifecta 7-8-9" means the seven horse must finish first, the eight horse must finish second and the nine horse must finish third.

TRIFECTA BOX: The Trifecta Box includes every possible combination that couldresult from the selected horses. Example: "$2 Trifecta box 4-5-6", means those three horses must finish first, second and third in any order. The $2 bet would cost $12. A $2 four-horse Trifecta box costs $48 and a $2 five-horse Trifecta box costs $120.

TWIN TRIFECTA: Like the daily double, this bet involves two races designated as "Twin Trifecta" in the race program. To win, the bettor must pick the first, second and third place finishers in exact order in the first half of the designated race. After the first race is declared official and before the second race is run, the bettor exchanges the winning ticket and selects the first three horses in the exact order of the second race of the "Twin Trifecta".

Proudly supporting the community at all the local events.

Bring the whole family for some good old-fashioned fun at the fair.

We're proud to be a part of this annual treasured Gillespie County tradition!

Livestock Rules and Regulations

132nd GILLESPIE COUNTY FAIR LIVESTOCK RULES AND REGULATIONS

The following are rules and regulations of the fair as decreed by the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association Board of Directors:

1. A gala street parade officially signals the start of the 132nd Gillespie County Fair Friday, Aug. 21, 2020, at 10 a.m. on Main Street.

Fair grounds will open at 1 p.m.

2. Most livestock entries must be in the hands of the fair association or postmarked on or before Monday, Aug. 17, 2020. (Meat Goat Futurity and Lamb Futurity online by Thursday, Aug. 13, 2020, by 10 p.m., or entry will be considered late.)

All livestock that enters the fair grounds must be assigned exhibition space by the division superintendents.

Any livestock stalled in the barn must be shown in competition in the respective classes.

Entry fees must accompany applications. NO REFUNDS WILL BE MADE.

Neither space nor stall for showing of animals will be allotted after the fair has officially started.

Unprotected fans will not be allowed in Livestock Barns and no extension cords on the ground.

A properly completed entry blank is required for each animal. TEXAS ANIMALS ONLY.

3. Entry applications and pen reservations must be made to the Gillespie County Fair and Festivals Association, P.O. Box 526, Fredericksburg, TX 78624.

Entry fees must accompany application for pens and stalls.

Entries may be made online at www. gillespiefair.com.

- 4. SANITATION REGULATIONS: All livestock and poultry must meet current Texas Animal Health Commission Regulations.
- 5. Exhibitors are responsible for feeding and watering their animals throughout the show.
- 6. Exhibition will commence on Aug. 21, promptly at 8 a.m. and each following day of the fair at the same hour.
- 7. No lotteries of any kind, including selling of chances, prize tickets, etc., will be allowed on the grounds.
- 8. Premiums will be paid at time of judging.
- 9. Premiums will be paid on classes at the DISCRETION OF THE COMMITTEE.
- 10. Fair association reserves the right to refuse any entries.
 - 11. After loading and unloading, all trailers and other vehicles must be parked in the outside parking lot in designated area.

Vehicles in violation will be towed at owners' expense.

- 12. Will accept first 200 head. (Limit 200 head cattle.)
- 13. No livestock or tack accepted in building before 8 a.m., Wednesday, Aug. 19, 2020.
- 14. No pets are allowed. Service animals only.
- 15. Cattle tie outs on first-come, first-served basis.

RESPECT FELLOW EXHIBITORS.

- 16. Feed for livestock can be secured from dealers in Fredericksburg.
 - 17. Feed may be carried into grounds.
- 18. Hay may be fed in the barn. Cattle area will use shavings.
- 19. All livestock will be bedded on wood shavings (no paper shavings).

20. NO ICE CHESTS ARE PERMITTED ON GROUNDS.

21. No open fans and no alley fans allowed in the livestock barns - HANGING FANS ONLY.

22. Livestock exhibitors only will be issued free personal passes as follows:
