Graduates from kindergarten to high school are grateful to get the chance to gather this year for graduation since it's only been one year since COVID-19 ruined a lot of students' plans to walk across stages and receive their diplomas. Now these important milestones are getting to be celebrated like they should be with family and friends.

Leah Collins Memorial Scholarship announced

Award established to honor revered Midway alumna

Midway High School's 2021 graduates are the first to be eligible for a new $1,000 scholarship named in honor of Leah (Neumeyer) Collins, a beloved 1996 Midway alumna and a lifelong resident of the Council Hill area.

The Leah Collins Memorial Scholarship Fund was established last month, following the untimely passing of Collins, who fought a courageous battle with cancer. Many of her family members, friends and colleagues have donated generously to develop the scholarship fund.

"Leah cherished her years as a student at Midway and continued to support the school system in a variety of roles her entire life," said Laren McAfee, Leah's mother and Chairman of the scholarship fund. "It would make her extremely proud to be the catalyst for this scholarship to help Midway graduates pursue their dreams."

2 more cases dismissed due to McGirt

JERRY FINK
MANAGING EDITOR

Cases against two more defendants in McIntosh County District Court have been dismissed due to the U.S. Supreme Court's landmark decision on July 9, 2020 in the case of Native American Jimcy McGirt.

One case involves allegations against Brian James Baker, 38, Crowder, of sexual misconduct involving a teenage girl.

The other involves 32-year-old Checotah resident Brian Ray Essary Jr., charged with child endangerment, failure to report child abuse and intimidation of a witness.

Associate District Judge Brendon Bridges, basing his decision on the McGirt ruling, dismissed the charges against Essary on May 5 because Essary is a member of the Choctaw Nation and the alleged crimes occurred in Muscogee (Creek) Nation territory.

However, Bridges delayed his decision in order to give federal

Public Schools for 13 years and participated in countless activities. During her senior year alone, she served as Class President and Salutatorian; led Midway's FFA Chapter as President; and was selected to be Midway's 1996 Homecoming Queen. She met her future husband, Cheyenne Collins, while attending Midway. And, their two children, Aspen and Luke, have received all of their education at Midway.

"Losing Leah was a huge detriment to the Midway community," explained Stephanie (Duvall) Sisson, Leah's long-time friend and schoolmate. "She campaigned to help pass special bonds to benefit the Midway school system. She always participated in fund-raisers for the school. She was a major booster of the athletics programs and attended almost every basketball and football game, the 4-H/FFA livestock shows, and any other events where she could support Midway's students and cheer them on!"

Collins also graduated with honors from both Northeastern Oklahoma State University and the University of Oklahoma's Graduate College. She earned a Masters Degree in Social Work followed by her LCSW (Licensed Clinical Social Worker). She enjoyed a successful career in social services for over 20 years. Most recently, she served as the Program Director of the Eastern Oklahoma VA Health Care System's Home-Based Primary Care Program in Muskogee.

"Leah Collins excelled at everything she touched. She was passionate about helping other people succeed too," said Mike Watson, a 1983 Midway grad and member of the scholarship's Steering Committee. "She was a vessel of love, compassion and goodwill - one of those special people who made this world a better place to live. Leah's contributions to Midway will extend far beyond her life, and this scholarship will forever be part of her legacy."

The first Leah Collins Memorial Scholarship will be presented during Midway High School's Commencement Ceremony on Thursday, May 20, in Council Hill.

The Selection Committee will consider each applicant's scholastic achievement; leadership potential; character; demonstrated commitment to community service; involvement in extracurricular activities; their future career goals and any other special circumstances which merit consideration.

Leah Collins

Kelly (Crosby) James, a close friend and 1995 Midway alumna, says she believes donating to this scholarship fund will help Leah's friends as they process their grief. "Doing something constructive like this helps us to keep her spirit alive every day. Plus, it will make a positive difference for future generations of Midway students - and we all know Leah would love that!"

Those interested in making a donation to The Leah Collins Memorial Scholarship Fund may contact Laren McAfee at: leahcollinsscholarship@outlook.com, or send a check to: The Leah Collins Memorial Scholarship Fund, 114386 New Texanna Road, Checotah, OK, 74426.

Honey Springs Battlefield to host virtual lecture

Honey Springs Battlefield will host a virtual lecture, "The Diary of a Union Soldier from Kansas," on Saturday, May 29, at 2 p.m.

Tom Wing, assistant professor of history at the University of Arkansas–Fort Smith and author of the book entitled "A Rough Introduction to This Sunny Land: The Civil War Diary of Private Henry A. Strong, Co. K, Twelfth Kansas Infantry," will speak about the experiences of Private Henry Strong during the Civil War in present-day Oklahoma.

Participants can enjoy this online presentation on the site's Facebook page at @honeyspringsbattlesite. Wing will be available to answer questions submitted by viewers during the presentation.

According to the Butler Center for Arkansas Studies, "Henry Strong's diary will be a valuable asset to all who study the Civil War. It provides a view of the war from the perspective of a common soldier who witnessed many of the key events in the western part of Arkansas. From seeing the suffering of the civilian population to participating in Frederick Steele's doomed Camden Expedition, this young Kansan kept a meticulous record of daily events."

Wing holds a masters of liberal studies in American history from the University of Oklahoma and is the author of two books: "Images of America: Van Buren" and "'A Rough Introduction to This Sunny Land': The Civil War Diary of Private Henry A. Strong, Co. K, Twelfth Kansas Infantry."

He is a museum professional with 22 years of experience in resource interpretation, program planning, exhibit design and visitor services. He has appeared in interviews on the Discovery Channel, History Channel, Smithsonian Channel and PBS. He has served on many nonprofit boards.

Additionally, Wing was the grant writer and project director for the $5.3 million Drennen-Scott Project and the $1.2 million Willhaf House Project.

For more information regarding this virtual presentation and the Honey Springs Battlefield, please email honeysprings@okhistory.org or alynn@okhistory.org, or call 918-473-5572.

authorities time to arrest and charge Essary in federal court.

Bridges also based his decision to dismiss state charges against Baker because of McGirt.

In his ruling, Bridges noted that Baker also is a member of the Choctaw Nation and the alleged crimes took place in Muscogee (Creek) territory.

Baker was charged in McIntosh County District Court with lewd exhibition, procuring obscene material, second degree burglary and first degree arson.

As in the Essary case, Bridges delayed his decision in the Baker case for 20 days in order to allow federal authorities to take custody of the suspect.

Baker is one of six suspects allegedly involved in sexual misconduct with a Checotah area girl who was 15 at the time of the incidents.

Others charged in the case include:

- Chase A. Brooks-McGuffin, 19, Checotah, charged with second degree rape, lewd exhibition of a person and procuring obscene material.
- Jason Scott Fowler, 40, Checotah, charged with second degree rape, lewd exhibition of a person and procuring obscene material.
- Leonard Boyd Gray III, 39, Webbers Falls, charged with lewd molestation, lewd exhibition of a person and procuring obscene material.
- William Edward Mullins III, 34, Checotah, charged with lewd exhibition of a person and procuring obscene material
- Travis James Pratt, 29, Eufaula, charged with lewd exhibition of a person and procuring obscene material.

Charges against the suspects were filed as a result of an investigation by Checotah Police Officer Jacob Mitchell.

According to probable cause affidavits filed by Mitchell, the investigation began on Jan. 20 when he was asked to investigate a case involving solicitation of a minor.

Most of the cases involve the exchange of sexually-oriented material using the social media.

However, the charges against Fowler and Brooks-McGuffin allege sexual contact with the minor.

Both defendants have filed motions to have their cases dismissed based upon the McGirt ruling.

McGirt hearings have been set for 2 p.m., June 9 for Brooks-McGuffin and for 9 a.m., May 19 for Fowler.

Pre-preliminary hearings have been set for Mullins at 9 a.m. on June 1 and for Gray at 9 a.m. June 8. Neither of them have attempted to have their cases dismissed based upon McGirt.

An arrest warrant for Pratt was issued on Jan. 27. He has not yet been taken into custody.

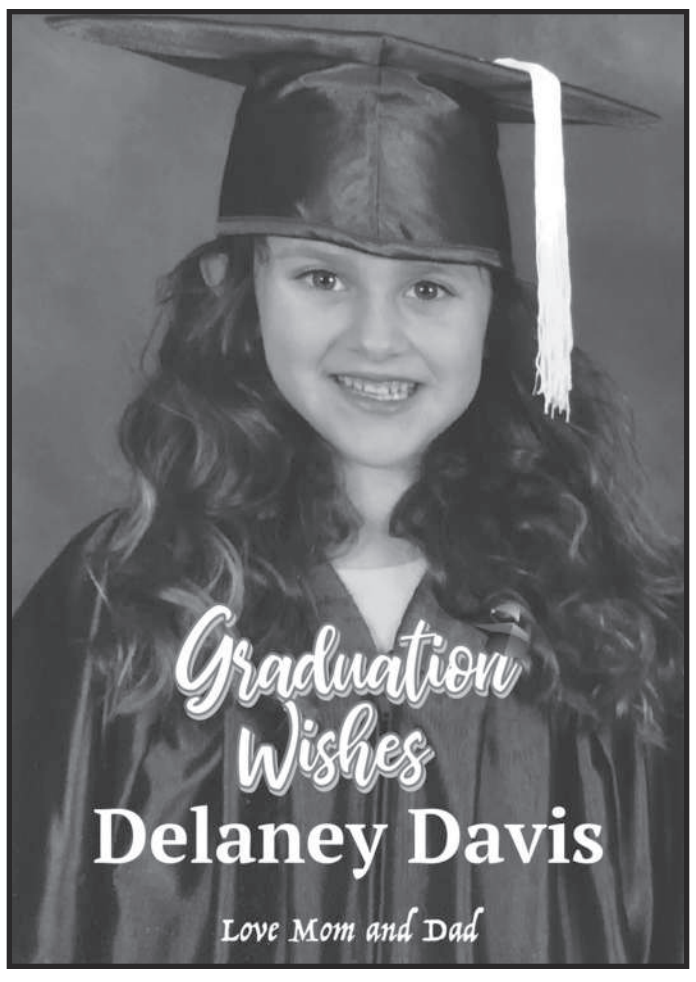

According to the police report, on Jan. 20 the older sister of the victim reported the alleged incidents that took place between early October, 2020 and late January, 2021.

The sister claimed that the minor child had failed a drug test for meth and marijuana.

The sister then allegedly searched the minor's phone and found sexually oriented messages and pictures involving several men.

Investigators used the victim's cell phone to trace messages and pictures and then used search warrants to further investigate the suspects.

Kindergarten classes from Marshall Elementary marched in with their teachers on May 11 to graduate before their families and friends.

GRADUATES

Marshall Elementary held their kindergarten graduation ceremony on Tuesday, May 11, to a full house of parents, grandparents, other relatives, classmates and friends. Each class danced to their class song before receiving their diplomas from Marshall Principal Cindy Frame, who was thrilled to see these youngsters walk across the stage this year.

The entire kindergarten also signed with Mrs. Nikki Roper "I Pledge Allegiance '' by Lee Greenwood and "God Bless America" sung by Celine Dion.

There were 87 students in the graduating kindergarten class from Marshall Elementary.

Epic students like Shaun Diddle were also excited to finally be graduating from high school and getting to walk the stage. Diddle, who is the son of Ryan and Amanda Davis of Checotah, will graduate May 28 at OneOK Field in Tulsa. His little sister, Delaney Davis, was one of the kindergarten graduates from Marshall. When asked how it feels to have two children graduating on two different spectrums, Amanda Davis said, "It's emotional in two different ways. One is getting ready to enter the 'real world' and the other is my baby girl who is growing up way too fast. Having one that is graduating high school though really makes me realize how fast time flies and to cherish each and every moment and accomplishment with them."

Checotah High School will have their 2021 Graduation Ceremony at 7:30 p.m. on May 21 at the CHS Event Center. Valedictorians, Alexis Hamilton, Gavin Scott, Vanessa Henson, Laura Smith and Amanda Brown along with Graduate of Honor Bradee Hall and Graduate of Distinction Clancy Campbell will all speak to their Class of 2021.

District Teacher of the Year Sarah Dennis will be the guest speaker for the 2021 graduation ceremony. Dennis, who has a Master's Degree in Education, has taught 17 years in public schools including the last four years at Checotah High School as the 11th grade English teacher. She considers it an honor to be recognized along with her other Teachers of the Year, Wendy Peckham Logan, Stefanie Flud and Rebekah Burnett, who she believes "all deserve a pat on the back for all they do."

Dennis also admires not just the staff but the students who have learned how to overcome obstacles like COVID-19 and have learned new digital technologies to become innovative this year.

Dennis hopes to be as inspiring as her mother who also taught school for 27 years.

"My mother always felt like her job was never a chore, but instead a treat. She got to go to school every day and help her young students fall in love with reading, science and math. So I wanted to be the same kind of guiding light to my students to help better their lives. Though it's been a difficult year these students have overcome so many obstacles and there is just no telling how much they will accomplish in the future."

Principal Jennifer Campbell will be livestreaming the graduation ceremony from their Checotah High School Facebook account for anyone concerned with social distancing. If weather is permissible graduates will be asked to exit the CHS Event Center following the ceremony to socialize outside within their family units.

OPINION

Getting back to our roots

LaDonna's LAST WORD by LaDonna Rhodes

With all the insanity of today's present times I think it's time to get back to our roots and what America was really built on - Christian values and godly principles. These core values, characterized by boldness and confidence, were set years ago by a harmonious mix of different backgrounds of our Founders Fathers. Though they all may have been from different faiths, these men came together in unity to bring inspiring leadership for all the people. Hence, the Preamble was written, "We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America." These were the very words that made us who we are today, yet too many are forgetting our forefathers' sound advice and now America is paying the price in so many circumstances.

We are no longer in unity as we fight day in and day out over politics and prejudice. Political parties cannot even agree to disagree and do what is best for the People of the United States. There is hardly any Justice in the land. In fact, there are more laws to protect the guilty than the innocent.

How can we ensure Domestic Tranquility and want to keep the peace between states and citizens when there is no respect for other opinions and there is no peace even in the home? When "citizens" are allowed to riot against businesses and burn the American flag now with no repercussion, how does that bring peace? Even in our homes there is no peace as domestic abuse grows on a daily basis and we sit back foolishly and watch the demise of the family unit as a whole.

We tear apart our common defense and economically we are destroying our new generations by not promoting Welfare, which contrary to some people's beliefs isn't sitting at home on their assets collecting government monies, but instead it's promoting agriculture and industry, protecting our health and environment, and seeking out ways to solve social and economic problems together.

How do we secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity? We make sure everyone has a voice. We preserve the rights and freedom of each citizen, not just the individuals that want to go against everything our forefathers stood for.

I will always be a country girl at heart raised by Christian values and godly principles. I grew up being taught the Golden Rule of treating others the way I would want to be treated. I understood that if i stepped out of line my father would establish justice and insure domestic tranquility by applying the rod of correction to my posterior end. We grew up respecting the guns we used for our common defense and we promoted welfare by working our backsides off every single day. In the end we understood what a blessing it was to be raised right in America and to be thankful that our roots still run deep in the soil that our forefathers planted so many years ago. When I think about my roots and the values that my father and mother placed within me it makes me thankful that I am a Christian and an American who still believes in one nation under God that's indivisible and will fight for liberty and justice for all. So let's get back to our roots in America and see the blessings God has in store for us.

Budget agreement reached

AVERY FRIX
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Avery Frix

House and Senate leadership and the governor last week announced an $8.3 billion budget agreement for the state for Fiscal Year 2022, which starts in July.

We still have to pass various budget bills through the Joint Committee on Appropriations and Budget as well as through the full House and Senate, but the agreement goes a long way toward ensuring the budget for the coming fiscal year.

This budget funds core state services, with increases in several key areas.

Education will receive an additional $210.3 million, which will trigger lower class sizes in kindergarten and first grade. Research is clear that reduced class sizes in these formative years lead to better student outcomes in subjects like reading and math and other areas throughout the rest of a student's school years. The additional money also will allow us to equalize funding for school districts in low property value areas. Per-student funding also will increase as we get rid of duplicate student counts from the school funding formula.

Transportation will receive almost $17 million more this year than last. This will make the state's ROADS and the County Improvement for Roads and Bridges funds whole so that roads and bridges projects can stay on track.

This budget also should help us stimulate our economy is several ways. First, we cut personal income taxes for all taxpayers by .25%, and we restore the Earned Income Tax Credit for low- and moderate-income workers and families. Second, we cut corporate income taxes from 6% to 4%. We also include $35 million for the Quick Action Closing Fund. Both of these measures will encourage more businesses to local in our state and create more jobs.

Rural broadband will receive $42 million. This will be very helpful for rural areas that have limited access to high-speed internet services.

We also restore a historic sales tax credit that allows the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center so they can train an additional 160 nursing graduates and nurse practitioners every year and 70 additional medical residents within three years. Our rural areas need additional health care workers, and this will help.

We also save money in this budget – building our state reserves back to more than $1 billion. We learned during the pandemic how prudent it is to have a health savings account.

This is a good budget that will give state residents security in the services on which they rely.

As I said, we still have to pass the various budget bills through committee and legislative chambers, so the numbers could fluctuate some, but this is a great starting point.

State budget and redistricting are issues to watch

For the Children
By Joe Dorman, CEO
Oklahoma Institute For Child Advocacy

As the Oklahoma legislative session winds down for the year, there are still some policy bills being considered in conference committees, and a few remaining that need some other form of action, including some policies important to the Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy (OICA).

The two items receiving the most discussion are: 1) what will the state budget look like for important programs; and 2) what will the legislative and congressional district lines look like based upon the recent Census count.

The good news is the budget outlook is far better than most anticipated coming out of a pandemic year. Tax collections from the various economic activities which generate revenue showed Gross Receipts to the Treasury jumped by more than 38 percent in April. Even more encouraging, all major revenue streams showed at least double-digit growth.

We expect the negotiations on the budget will be finalized soon. A troubling reality is there is still no indication whether the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) refundability will be a part of the final bill to ensure working families get the full benefit of this important tax cut.

We will keep you informed in this column and on our social media as progress is made. You can read the economic report at https://www.ok.gov/treasurer/documents/Apr-21-GRT-OER.pdf

The other point the policymakers must decide is redistricting. Oklahoma has unique history with redistricting, according to a report by the Oklahoma House of Representatives.

In 1962, the U.S. Supreme Court determined state legislative districting must reflect the concept of one-person-one-vote in Baker v. Carr. All citizens, regardless of where they reside in a state, are entitled to equal legislative representation.

The U.S. District Court for Western Oklahoma found in Reynolds v. State Election Board that the Oklahoma Legislature failed to follow the law to redistrict itself within the guidelines of substantial numerical equality. So, in 1964, the U.S. District Court redistricted both the Oklahoma Senate and the Oklahoma House of Representatives on a population basis.

Soon after, the Legislature passed and the people adopted Article V, Sections 11A through 11E of the Oklahoma Constitution. This requires the Oklahoma Legislature to develop and enact redistricting plans for the Oklahoma House of Representatives and Senate "within 90 legislative days after the convening of the first regular session of the Legislature following each Federal Decennial Census."

If the Legislature fails to do so by sine die adjournment (on the final Friday of May), the task falls to the Bipartisan Commission on Legislative Apportionment. This commission is composed of seven members: two Republicans and two Democrats appointed by the Governor; the President Pro Tempore of the Senate; the Speaker of the House; and the Lieutenant Governor serving as the nonvoting chair.

Census numbers for the states were delayed due to the pandemic, which slowed the process. State lawmakers worked with staff assigned to assist with drawing lines tentatively to comply with Oklahoma law, with hopes that numbers align well with what is provided by the US Census Bureau.

Population estimates from the 2015-2019 five-year American Community Survey were the basis for the

by State Rep. Randy Randleman

After months of work and lengthy conversations, legislative leaders announced a budget agreement for Fiscal Year 2022 on Thursday, May 13.

We heard directly from constituents what they wanted to see in this new budget, and I believe our proposal delivers.

This budget serves the people of Oklahoma well by providing tax relief for individuals and businesses while also adding new investments into our key priorities like education, economic development,

Governor signs bill designating the historic Jefferson Highway

The governor has given final approval to Senate Bill 8, which will officially designate the route that largely follows State Highway 69 as the "Historic Jefferson Highway Route," named after former President Thomas Jefferson. The measure was authored by Sen. Micheal Bergstrom, R-Adair.

The Jefferson Highway is the oldest highway to pass through Oklahoma, spanning from the Kansas to Texas borders. Nationally, the Jefferson Highway was one of the earliest in the country, completed nearly a decade before Route 66. Originally established in 1915, the route cut through the heart of the Louisiana Purchase Territory and covered 2,300 miles from Winnipeg, Canada to New Orleans.

The entire historic route, including the portion cutting through the state, has recently been reidentified by the reformed Jefferson Highway Association organization.

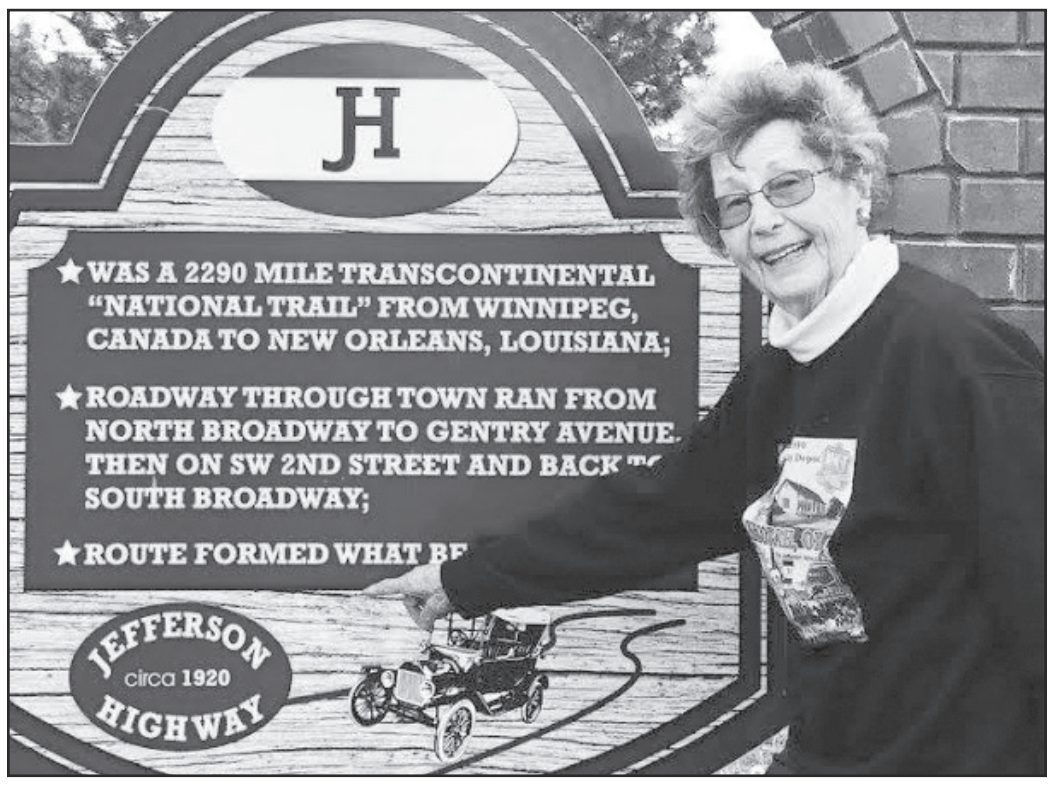

"Designating Highway 69 as the 'Historic Jefferson Highway Route' will be a big boost to tourism in our state," Bergstrom said. "History buffs across the nation will drive far and near to take a ride on the Jefferson Route, and now Oklahoma will welcome them with open arms. I'm excited for the economic boost this roadway will bring to our mom-and-pop restaurants, local shops, gas stations, hotels and more. I appreciate my colleagues for their support of this measure and the governor for signing it into law."

Under the bill, any costs associated with official signage may be provided by private sources, and permanent markers will be designed in consultation with the Jefferson Highway Association.

Rep. Avery Frix, R-Muskogee, carried the measure in the House.

"I'm excited to see Senate Bill 8 signed into law," Frix said. "This highway has been a big tourist attraction recently, and we're hoping with the designation of this artery as the Historic Jefferson Highway this will be something similar to what has been done with Historic Route 66."

The measure will go into effect on Nov. 1 of this year.

Emmy Stidham shows off one of Checotah's Jefferson Highway signs. The Jefferson Highway was a roadway that went through the town of Checotah from North Broadway to Gentry Avenue, then jogged over to SW 2nd Street and back to South Broadway. Due to the varied terrain and to encourage tourism, promoters called it "Palms to Pines."

Legislation allowing patients to designate a visitor to have unrestricted visitation has been signed by the Governor.

House Bill 2687, titled the "No Patient Left Alone Act," is authored by Rep. Toni Hasenbeck, R-Elgin. She filed the legislation after hearing from constituents whose loved ones were not allowed to have a single visitor during the height of the pandemic.

"Many Oklahomans have been unable to see loved ones during the pandemic because the hospital or care facility has not allowed visitors since last March," Hasenbeck said. "Adding isolation on top of health struggles drastically affects the patient's mental health, and many people die without getting to see their family or friends one last time. I am very glad to see this bill signed into law so all Oklahomans can have at least one visitor while they're hospitalized."

The bill prohibits termination, suspension or waiver of visitation rights by the hospital, State Department of Health, or any governmental entity regardless of declarations of emergency by the Governor or Legislature.

HB2687 was authored by Sen. Micheal Bergstrom, R-Adair.

"The thought of any family member being left alone in the hospital while being critically ill or dying is absolutely heartbreaking," Bergstrom said. "However, this was the reality for many Oklahomans during the COVID-19 pandemic due to strict hospital visitation policies. This measure will ensure every patient has the right to a family member, friend or patient advocate during their stay at a hospital facility, regardless if a health emergency has been declared. I'm thankful we were able to get this piece of legislation across the finish line."

HB2687 allows for certain restrictions by the hospital, but hospitals are prohibited from requiring patients to waive their rights specified in this act. The bill requires hospitals to post informational materials about the patients' rights in this act in a prominent place.

OICA to award grants fighting adverse childhood experiences

The Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy (OICA) is seeking proposals from 501(c)3 organizations addressing adverse childhood experiences.

OICA will administer a pair of $2,500 grants for nonprofit organizations that shares OICA's commitment to reducing adverse childhood experiences (ACEs); the funding for the grants comes from Anthem, Inc.

The grant proposal may be to fund a specific program, project or general organizational support.

Preference in grant selection will be given to OICA-member organizations. To become a member of OICA, please go to https://oica.org/2021-.

"OICA is grateful to Anthem for joining with us to help youth organizations provide a better future for Oklahoma's children by addressing adverse experiences today," said Peyton Stacy, OICA's director of policy and grant administration. "These two grants will help a pair of youth organizations to make a difference in their communities."

Stacy said the deadline for proposals is June 7 at 5 p.m., CDT; winning proposals will be announced June 21 and funds will be distributed shortly thereafter. The proposals must include:

- The organization's name, a contact within the organization, its mission, primary programs, demographics of the population served, sources of the organization's funding, and how long the organization has been in existence.
- Specifically, what the grant will fund and how it will reduce ACEs among its target population.
- The time frame of the program, project, or general support funding.
- The projected budget and total cost of the program, project, or general support funding.
- The organization's federal tax ID number.

In addition, attached to the application must be proof of 501(c)3 status, a list of staff and board/trustee members, and the most recent audit of the organization. Applications should be emailed to Stacy at pstacy@oica.org.

"This grant opportunity is another way OICA works with our partner organizations across Oklahoma to make life better for our state's children," Stacy concluded. "We all must continue working together to meet our shared goal of reducing adverse childhood experiences and doing everything we can to make Oklahoma a true 'Top 10' state for its children."

For more information or if there are any questions, contact Stacy at pstacy@oica.org or by calling the Oklahoma Institute for Child Advocacy at (405) 236-5437, extension 116. The full RFP is available on the OICA website at https://oica.org/aces-grants/.

infrastructure and health care. Core services that provide essential services for Oklahomans are maintained as well under this budget.

The budget was built on the Board of Equalization's certification of $9.6 billion in revenue available for appropriations that we received in February. Of that figure, the proposed budget utilizes $8.3 billion. The rest is allocated to tax relief, replenishing savings reserves or replenishing off-the-top funding temporarily redirected during the pandemic last session.

I wanted to highlight a few areas I thought would be especially noteworthy to my constituents of House District 15:

- Increases common education funding by 6% to a record high of $3.2 billion, leading to reductions in class sizes in kindergarten and first grade which means teachers can spend more time one-on-one with students
- Expands broadband in rural areas of the state that are underserved or not served at all, thanks to a $42 million tax incentive for broadband providers
- Provides $35 million toward new economic development funding to aggressively recruit more jobs to Oklahoma and grow our economy
- Puts Oklahoma in the Top Ten nationwide for lowest tax rates by reducing personal income tax from 5% to 4.75%and corporate income tax from 6% to 4%
- Boosts reserves from less than $300 million today to more than $1 billion, nearly back to our amount prior to the pandemic

The majority of the state budget is filed as House Bill 2900, but portions of the budget are in other bills. Those bills will now begin moving through the legislative process. After passing the Joint Appropriations and Budget Committee, which consists of members of both the House and Senate subcommittees, the bills will be eligible to be considered in the full House and Senate. Once they have passed both chambers, they move to the Governor's desk for his consideration.

Providing a balanced budget is the only required duty for the Legislature that is actually outlined in the Oklahoma Constitution, which must be completed before our constitutional deadline for adjournment of the legislative session at 5 p.m. on Friday, May 28. With the budget we have drafted, I am confident that the people of Oklahoma will be pleased and we will complete our legislative work without going past the deadline.

While the budget moves through the Legislature, we'll also continue to hear amendments to legislation and work with the Senate to reach agreements on other bills.

As always, please contact me with any questions or concerns you may have. You can reach me at (405) 557-7375 or randy.randleman@okhouse.gov. Thank you for the honor of representing House District 15.

Rep. Randy Randleman represents District 15 in the Oklahoma House of Representatives, which includes portions of Haskell, LeFlore, McIntosh, Muskogee, Pittsburg and Sequoyah Counties.

Checotah stories from the past

Ten Thousand People

That Is the Goal of Checotah's Present Ambition

Checotah wants 10,000 people and is going to make a determined united effort to get them. That seems like a good many people and yet when we consider what other towns have done with their opportunities and resources there is no reason why Checotah should not attain her ambition.

On Wednesday night of this week an informal meeting of a number of our business men and citizens was held at the First National Bank for the purpose of talking over the matter of vital interest to the town and to take some action toward the formation of a Commercial Club.

RAILROAD COMING

Checotah May be Eastern Terminus of a New Railroad

J.W. Sullins, cashier of the First National Bank of Henryetta, was in the city yesterday. In speaking of the railroad situation there he said, "There are ten coal mines working at Henryetta now, but there is great trouble in securing cars for transportation of their output. The town is elated over the prospects of securing a new road, the Oklahoma City, Henryetta and St. Louis.

A.E. Sumner, representing New York, Brooklyn and Oklahoma City capitalists, is at present surveying the route for the new line from Henryetta to Oklahoma City. The survey is costing the neat sum of $10,000 and we are convinced that the road is a real proposition.

"Eventually the line is to be extended to Woodward, Oklahoma, after which it will extend east from Henryetta and the general understanding is that it will run either through Muskogee or Checotah on the south," Sullins said.

$55,000,000 Canadian Dam Given Congressional OK

Work May Not Start for at Least 3 Years

The giant Eufaula Dam, to cost approximately $55,000,000, which when completed will form Oklahoma's greatest man-made lake, was given the green light by the rivers and harbors committee in Washington last Friday.

The dam, which will be built 15 miles southeast of Checotah near Texanna, will inundate 126,000 acres of land along four streams including the South Canadian and North Canadian rivers, Deep Fork and Gaines Creek in Pittsburg county.

Actual appropriation of funds is expected to be made by congress piecemeal as the engineer's needs arise.

More than 1,000 farm families in McIntosh county alone will be required to move to new homes.

Sentiment is well divided among McIntosh county residents as to the desirability of the project.

One of the problems throughout the inundated area will be the rerouting of railroads, highways and farm-to-market roads.

Engineers say that the project will serve a multiple purpose – for navigation, flood control and power.

Water Bond Project May be Withdrawn

Due to dam project

Checotah's proposed bond issue of $100,000 to rebuild the water system will probably be shelved indefinitely, Mayor Henry Wells declared this week.

Mayor Henry Wells declared this week

The action will be taken, Wells said, due to the government's apparent decision to proceed with construction plans on the $55,000,000 Eufaula dam.

If the dam is built the city's filtration plant, pump house and a section of the main line will be inundated by the water. Since the government will pay the cost of all damages due to flood waters of the lake, the city stands to get a complete new system with the outlay of any cash.

Walker to Construct Frozen Locker Plant

A frozen locker plant will be opened in Checotah in the near future by Lee Otis Walker, who recently purchased the large lot south of Bynum's store.

Walker proposed to erect a new 40 by 80 foot building on the lot.

Walker, who is now attending school at Southeastern State College, will return to Checotah this week to start a canvas of both city and rural residents to determine the number of lockers that will be needed here.

Governor Stitt signs umanned aircraft act

Governor Kevin Stitt signed Senate Bill 659 which creates the Unmanned Aircraft Systems Development Act of 2021. The Act establishes the Oklahoma Aeronautics Commission as the clearinghouse for unmanned aircraft systems (UAS) in the State and designates the Commission as the lead agency to promote, enhance, develop, and ensure safety of UAS.

Upon signing the legislation, Gov. Stitt said, "Both the government and private sectors have started to take advantage of UAS and that will continue to increase as we look to integrate this great technology into our state's airspace. It makes sense for the state to act positively, designating our State Aeronautics agency as the UAS "clearinghouse" for Oklahoma. They will look to organize the state's UAS assets so that we can determine our best flight path forward. It is our goal to move this coalition of partners toward a collective strategy in order to launch the state's UAS industry into being a Top 10 asset."

The bill began with an interim study involving several UAS leaders within the state as well as experts from around the United States. The Senate author of the bill, Sen. Paul Rosino, District 45 stated, "During last Fall's interim study experts across the country detailed how their states were doing, outlining the roadmap for how Oklahoma could ascend the UAS ladder to become a leader in the industry. Those experts and presentations showed that Oklahoma would benefit from a single, coordinating entity in state government responsible for creating a cohesive coalition of partners to bring together the state's various UAS assets."

Rosino contends that Oklahoma has been missing that energizing force or organization that can bring the resources of the state together to ensure the state's focus on the next big UAS policy initiative, test site opportunity, or federal grant program. "The Aeronautics Commission is primed to be this resource to assist fellow state agencies, municipalities, law enforcement and first responders, educators, and others with navigating this up and coming industry," Rosino concluded.

House author Rep. Kyle Hilbert, District 29 said "This legislation creates an opportunity for the state to take full advantage of this burgeoning industry by ensuring we will be ready as UAS start to fully integrate into our everyday lives. Aeronautics has the staff-level expertise with the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) regulatory environment and can be a resource to those entities, government and business, that are interested in using this new technology. In drafting this legislation we wanted Aeronautics to be the coalescing force to bring all of the state's UAS entities together as this industry grows and expands."

Integration of UAS into the National Airspace System will be the key linchpin to unlocking this great technology for the aviation and aerospace industry moving forward. Oklahoma already has some good UAS success stories that are working on that integration with entities like Oklahoma State University's Unmanned Systems Research Institute and the Choctaw Nation's IPP and Beyond Programs. Additionally, several UAS companies have decided to call Oklahoma home in recent years including Kratos Defense and Skydweller just to name a few. "Oklahoma is primed to take advantage of the growth of UAS across the country and the Commission is positioned to assist however we can," said State Director of Aeronautics Grayson Ardies, "we are excited to see the State move forward in the UAS arena and want to help make Oklahoma a major destination for UAS activity."

Israeli aerospace company relocating facility to Tulsa

TAT Technologies Ltd., an Israeli aerospace company, announced plans to relocate its thermal components activities from Israel to Tulsa.

TAT is the world's largest independent manufacturing/repair company of thermal components for the aviation industry and also the parent company of Tulsa-based Limco Airepair.

As part of this foreign direct investment announcement, the company will expand Limco Airepair, Inc. which focuses on maintenance, repair, and overhaul (MRO) of thermal components.

In addition to the local expansion, TAT will relocate their heat exchanger components manufacturing activities, specializing in original equipment manufacturing (OEM) of thermal components, from Israel to Tulsa. The company also plans to establish a new global research & development center within their Tulsa campus.

"As we continue to deploy our thermal components strategy, our planned investment in Tulsa will form one of the largest and leading independent thermal components facilities for aerospace and defense industries with full life cycle support to our customers from Research and Development to design, manufacturing and aftermarket support," said Igal Zamir, TAT's president and CEO.

The new facility and the planned investments in technologies and human resources will enable TAT to leverage synergies, improve efficiency and provide better value to our customers.

"I am thrilled to welcome TAT Technologies to Oklahoma," said Oklahoma Governor Kevin Stitt. "Our aerospace sector continues to grow and this announcement is even more exciting as it includes the growth of one of our own – Limco. Oklahoma is a premier location for aerospace operations and I am proud that TAT has chosen our state for this investment."

"Limco has been a staple of Tulsa's aerospace and aviation maintenance hub for decades; today we're excited to announce their expansion while also welcoming TAT to Tulsa," said Geoff Camp, Oklahoma Department of Commerce, State Director for Aerospace and Defense. "TAT realized what aerospace and defense companies around the world are noticing; Oklahoma provides them unbeatable business economics, unmatched access to appropriately skilled talent and an extremely supportive environment to operate a successful business. We look forward to supporting their transition and helping them prosper in Tulsa."

"TAT Technologies' decision to relocate to Tulsa and Limco's subsequent expansion are major wins for the Tulsa region and come at a critical time in northeast Oklahoma's economic recovery," says Arthur Jackson, SVP of Economic Development at the Tulsa Regional Chamber. "Limco's long-standing investment in Tulsa has been integral to the growth and success of our aerospace industry, and we are excited with their decision to bring new investment, high-quality jobs and innovation to northeast Oklahoma. This announcement highlights the renewed focus of Tulsa's Future in supporting the region's existing businesses as an essential part of our work at the Chamber, and we look forward to assisting both Limco and TAT Technologies during this process."

"Last year we passed legislation (HB 3967) designed to boost our trade opportunities with Israel," said Mark McBride, Oklahoma House of Representatives. "I am pleased to see that we are making progress here, further expanding our aerospace presence and increasing foreign direct investment in the state."

"This is a great boom for Oklahoma's aerospace and defense sector," said Paul Rosino, Oklahoma Senate. "We continue to grow our presence in this sector, bringing new investment to the state and creating job opportunities for Oklahomans. Congratulations to TAT, Limco and the Tulsa region on this exciting announcement."

The project is expected to add over 300 new jobs to the Tulsa metro. The company plans to work with local CareerTech campuses to recruit welders and other necessary technical trades.

TAT's customers include companies such as Boeing, Embraer, Collins, Lockheed Martin, and airliners such as Delta, Lufthansa, KLM and others.

Incentives for the workers

Oklahoma governor Stitt is proposing a bill that would give the folks that have refused to go back to work an incentive to do so.

How about if he gave the workers who continued to work through the covid nightmare an incentive.

Over 40 newspapers across America have shut their doors forever because of COVID-19 and what stipulations came with it. Basically, no businesses open means no advertising.

Journalists, policemen, firefighters, doctors, nurses, teachers, food service, etc....should be the workers rewarded for working.

I deliver newspapers to two different counties and 90% have help wanted signs. The problem is that big government has made it easy and affordable to stay home and not work.

I say reward the people that have worked.

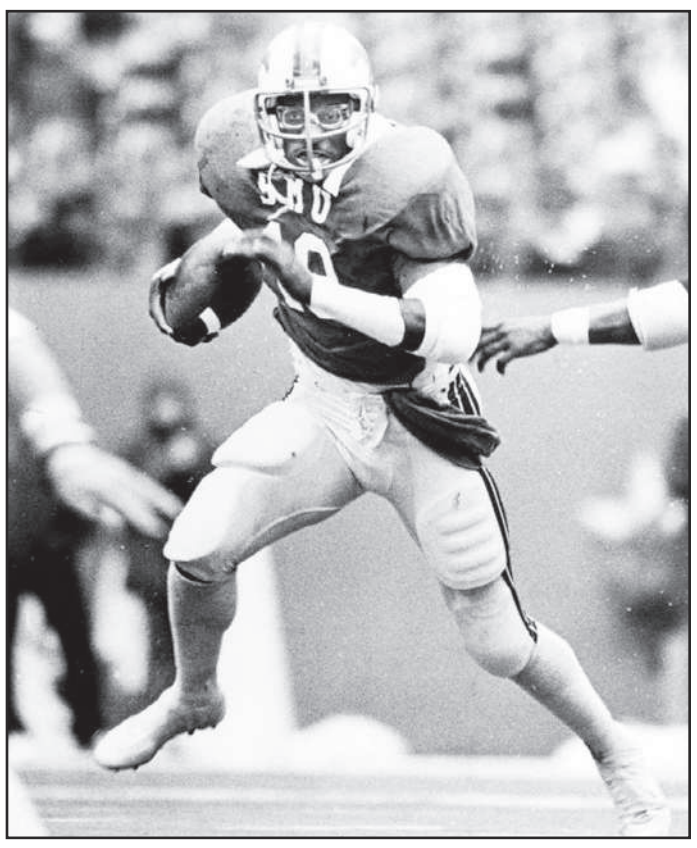

1-2-3 break.

2020 College Football Hall of Fame Electee

Eric Dickerson COURTESY

NATIONAL FOOTBALL FOUNDATION
FOOTBALLLETTER SPOTLIGHT

If you want to go fast, go alone. If you want to go far, go together. If you want to go fast and far, create a "Pony Express" with Eric Dickerson and Craig James alternating in the saddle. Dickerson, the sensation in the famed SMU duo who helped deliver two-consecutive Southwest Conference (SWC) championships, now rides into the College Football Hall of Fame.

"It means a lot to me to represent my university," said Dickerson. "I'm proud to be a Mustang player. We had a great era with great players: my friend Craig James, Harvey Armstrong, Charles Drayton, Mark Crites, Joe Beard, Eric Ferguson, Gary Moten, Blane Smith.

"When people think of SMU, they think of the Pony Express, but it was so much deeper. Our defense was second to none, almost to the point of viciousness. I think of Wes Hopkins. We had some great players, but the best thing was the closeness of our team."

Coming out of Sealy, Texas, Dickerson had an impressive debut with 123 yards and three touchdowns against Rice, but injuries limited him during his freshman year in 1979. The following year, SMU posted an 8-4 record, including a 20-6 win in Austin against a No. 2-ranked Texas on national TV.

"It was a close game until we put in the option in the second half that we had been practicing, and they could not make adjustments," said Dickerson. "After the game, we had some old alumni in walkers and wheel chairs come into the locker room, crying and saying I have been waiting 20 years for this day because we had not beaten Texas since 1966."

The Pony Express had arrived with Dickerson and James alternating carries and option quarterback Lance McIlhenny joining the pair in the backfield.

"Nobody could run the option like Lance," said Dickerson. "We called him the Magic Man because he could do it so smooth and so quick. At the last minute he would take the hit and the ball would come out, it was amazing."

In 1981, Dickerson helped SMU to a No. 5 final ranking, a 10-1 record and its first SWC title since 1966. Dickerson scored 19 touchdowns and ran for 1,428 yards on the season, destroying the SMU single-season rushing record by 394 yards.

"I have to give credit to my friend and coach, Ron Meyer, for putting those teams together," said Dickerson. "One thing about Ron was he could see talent like no one else… He made it work between me and Craig. Because I didn't want [to share the carries], and Craig didn't…. But, Coach Meyer set it up with me and Craig to rotate… It was really frustrating, and it was frustrating for Craig too, but you got used to it."

The rotating system kept the pair fresh, wearing down opponents in the third and fourth quarters while also protecting them from injuries.

"Had we not connected as friends, I don't think our rotating system would have worked," said James. "I think from day one for whatever reason the chemistry was there… I am so excited that Eric is going into the College Football Hall of Fame, knowing that he is one of the very best to ever have played college football, and that he's now going to represent himself and all of us."

A unanimous First Team All-American in 1982, Dickerson helped guide SMU to a No. 2 final ranking and an 11-0-1 record capped off by a win over Pitt in the Cotton Bowl. He finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting behind Herschel Walker and John Elway after rushing for 17 touchdowns and 1,617 yards. Citing the impact of the Pony Express' dynamic, Dickerson referenced Walker's marks, which included rushing for 1,752 yards and 16 touchdowns on 335 attempts (103 more than Dickerson).

"Stats don't lie. I would say to Herschel that's my Heisman you have," said Dickerson. "If I had been at Oklahoma, USC that year, I would have won the Heisman. But for me, that wasn't supposed to happen. But I do thank God that I got a chance to play with my friend Craig James, and we were successful as we were at SMU and people still talk about the Pony Express."
